ROGERS SEES VETO OF $25,000,000 DRY BET WITH HOOVER

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—It's hard to get money out of the senate for anything but for politics.

Yesterday the Democrats bet Mr. Hoover $24,000,000 of the people's money that he couldn't enforce prohibition. They are going to put the whole thing up to him by saying: "We give you plenty of money to do it."

That would be just like asking these senators why they are not all great statesmen. We pay 'em enough money to be statesmen on. Watch Coolidge veto it.

Yours, WILL.

P. S.—Some woman here in court today said she had forgot whether she shot her husband or not. Suppose she intended to but just got busy on something important and forgot it.

PA NEW OBSERVES

This is a notable anniversary at New Wilmington. It is the second anniversary of the burning of "Old Main". Students and friends of the college are rejoicing, however, in that the magnificent new structure replacing the burned building, is nearly ready for use. It will give Westminster one of the finest college buildings to be found in the state. With the addition of the Robert Audley Browne dormitory, which was opened this year, Westminster expansion at this time is the most notable in its long history.

Another convention for New Castle, The Royal and Silent Masters who will be here next January will set off the 1930 conventions for the city. New Castle, Pa. New Observes, is getting her share of conventions, though perhaps we don't get all we go after.

Thus far, the groundhog birthday people—pardon, we mean the woodchuck people—have not broken their necks to get their names to Pa. New. Apparently they are not going to broadcast it. Perhaps there aren't any, yet, perhaps.

Wool growers from the county are stepping with feathers in their hats on account of the prizes at the state show. Remember that this is not a wool country nor is it even a farming center. They have a right to be cocky.

Have you got that poach his license? If you haven't, prepare for a shock. J. Wylie Brewster, county canine cajoiler, will be around and get your pedigree and the dog's peli if you haven't. Mr. Brewster really hates to arrest people and shoot hand-homes to you know how it is. Pa. New heard him lamenting the fact that he had to kill a dog one time but he had to do his duty.

Speaking of dogs and more dogs reports seem to indicate that since the state has had a real war on the puppers running loose, there are more of them being licensed. Not only this, but the number of dogs has decreased. People apparently can get along without a dog if they have to pay for it. Generally these same people never fed their dog, so all around it's much better.

Despite the ice on the highways, a very few have suffered from it. The hills have all been ashed by the state department and traveling was comparatively safe. Today, the most of the ice is gone and where some still remains there are tracks worn through. This makes chains superfluous.

One of the Pa. New family is nursing sore thumbs, sore arches, aching shoulders, a stiff neck and numerous blisters as the result of a little too friendly basketball last evening. Tip: If you're not in training keep your feet out of basketball shoes and shun the court.

Many of the county school students are angling for buses and tickets to hear Genevieve Hamper. The pupils will ride the school buses and sit in blocks to hear the players present Shakespeare's stuff.

Pa. New has heard of a man in New Castle who has 500 neckties and some 50 suits. Sounds a mite fishy but the authority was fair.

If there is anything more embarrassing than having a hole in your shirt when you take your coat off to help perform that trick at the party, it's the aftermath of running and screaming after a street car. Pa. New (Continued On Page Two)

Second Anniversary Of Westminster Fire That Destroyed "Old Main" Finds New Building About Ready

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 24.—Two years ago this morning at about 8:30, Old Main, the center of Westminster college life for more than half a century, was completely destroyed by fire. Thomas Wherry, night watchman, discovered the fire in the office of the building, and while he summoned aid, Robert Heckathorne, another employee, rang the old college bell.

Students, faculty members, and townspeople, as well as many from neighboring towns, were soon on the scene. New Castle and Sharon fire departments responded to the call for help. But little could be done. By 9:30, all that remained of the old landmark was the charred brick wall.

Word had been passed around among the students early in the morning that a special chapel service would be held in the United Presbyterian church at 8:30. Following a devotional service, the students met in regular forum and passed a resolution to carry on and to cooperate with faculty and trustees to rebuild the college plant. During the student forum meeting, the faculty met in an adjoining room to decide the order of the day. With little or no confusion and with no uncertainty, the professors voted to resume activities the following morning.

Semester final examinations were started the next morning in improvised classrooms in the United Presbyterian church, the New Wilmington club, the college gymnasium, the conservatory, and in the Science hall.

From that time on, despite inconvenience and lack of classroom equipment, the college has carried on. Not only has the enrollment increased, but college life has progressed as if nothing had happened. The faculty has been increased to take care of the increasing numbers of students, and most of the men and women who taught the classes in the college before the fire are still on the faculty.

Will Have New Building
Perhaps one of the reasons why classes have gone on as usual under many handicaps is that there have been the heartening sounds of mason's trowels and carpenter's hammers.

One Change In Identification Of One Of Victims Is Made Last Night

(International News Service)
BELLEVUE, O., Jan. 24.—Two of the five bodies remaining in Bellevue morgues following the bus crash Tuesday were identified today.

One was that of F. A. Kodit, Swartz Creek, Mich., and the other that of William E. Inke of Bunnell, Fla.

Kodit's identification was made possible by the number on an eyeglass case found in his pockets.

BELLEVUE, O., Jan. 24.—Several victims of Tuesday's disastrous bus crash, in which 19 persons were killed, today seemed destined to enter unmarked graves.

The bodies of four white men and a negro woman, all unidentified and unclaimed, still lay in undertaking establishments here.

One correction in the list of dead developed last night, a man whose name had been listed as Elmer Almond of Youngstown, was identified as Elmer Alexander of that city.

Many Mangled
Many of the victims were mangled beyond recognition. One of the identified dead is believed to have been a pal of Teddy Brawski of Brooklyn, who confessed before he died yesterday morning that he had a record as gunman and bandit.

Passengers on the bus say Brawski was traveling with another man and the body of his suspected confederate was found near him. There was nothing to indicate the identity of the man.

Reports that Brawski had a large amount of money on his person could not be verified today. Police refused to comment.

County Wool Association Wins At Show

Lawrence County Wool Growers Take Eight Prizes At State Show

AWARDED THREE
FIRST PRIZES

County Growers Again Win
Cup; Held It In 1923
And 1924

Lawrence County Wool Growers' association state products show, which is occurring at Harrisburg at the present time, won eight different prizes, thus getting the money premium as well as taking the cup for the third time, according to word received here from Harold McCulloch, county agent.

The cup was held by the local association in 1923 and 1924 and the winning this year has distinguished the county growers as being the only association to get the cup for the third time.

In the medium wool exhibit from the counties, the Lawrence association took first prize. First, second and third prizes were also taken in the Merino Wether exhibit; fourth in the pure bred medium; first and second in the half blood ewe classification, and fourth in fine wool exhibit of six fleeces.

This is a total of eight different prizes which the local association won at the state show, according to the statement of the county agent.

Merino county was also winner of several prizes, taking two third prizes in the medium wool and in the fine fleece exhibits.

In consideration of the fact that wool growing here is one of the minor agricultural industries, the local association is to be complimented on the remarkable record which it has attained.

The state products show, which has been in session since January 22, will close Friday evening.

School Directors Discuss Problems

Annual Convention Is Under Way; Re-elect W. H. Helle
As President

SUPT. SYLING TELLS OF CONDITIONS HERE

W. H. Helle was again elected president of the Lawrence County School Directors association, at their twenty-first annual convention, which opened this morning at the Second United Presbyterian church on County Line street.

P. W. Griffin was reelected first vice president, C. W. Fenton, second vice president, Mary Walker, secretary, and Scott Kildoo, treasurer.

"The Duty of the School Director" was the theme of the morning, discussed before some 50 members of the association who had assembled in the church at ten o'clock this morning by President Helle of the association and Dr. Robert C. Shaw of the Pennsylvania State department of education. County Superintendent John C. Syling also made his report for the year.

"Every school district in the state may venture to say that the United States has its own troubles, which it thinks are peculiar to its own district," commented Mr. Helle when making the first address of the morning. "But when one attends a state meeting of the school directors, one sees that after all, the problems are few and general."

Insurance Plan
Mr. Helle told about a plan now being perfected in an attempt to get a state insurance company to insure school buildings in rural districts. It is planned to have the state set aside certain sums, each year, as was done in the case of the workmen's compensation act. And, soon, the fund will be entirely self supporting. In fact, he stated, at the present time, a bill is being prepared which will be presented to the state legislature in the near future, and probably, with modifications, be passed, which will cover the insurance of rural school buildings.

Stressing the fact that in many instances school boards act unlawfully, Mr. Helle pointed out the value of a complete knowledge of the school code. Pamphlets have been prepared on school board practices, which are for distribution to the members of the board. He stated that boards are no longer bothered by the teacher question, since state regulations have been enacted insuring the competency of teachers.

"It is my belief that school units are now too small for successful operation," stated Mr. Helle. "Through-out the county, the cost to educate a child varies, and then, it is hard to get anyone to take offices in the (Continued On Page Nineteen)

Benjamin Watkins, superintendent of the mission, and Poor Director Hogue was in turn notified and will take care of the case.

Believe Morrow Will Remain In Mexico

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 24.—Dwight W. Morrow's future status in public service, if any, probably will be determined within the next week.

The banker diplomat who left his position as a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan to take over the ambassadorship to Mexico at a time when Washington had almost despaired of ever re-establishing cordial relations with Mexico City, was a breakfast guest this morning of President-elect Hoover at his Belle Isle retreat. He came from Nassau for today's conference at Mr. Hoover's invitation, to discuss a number of matters, among them his own status after March 4.

Morrow's name has been mentioned with frequency and prominence in connection with the secretaryship of state, yet not even to his intimates has the banker ever indicated that he wanted the position or that he would accept it if it were proffered him.

Those in a position to know say that, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding, Mr. Hoover will not offer the post to Morrow and that this is entirely satisfactory to Morrow. They also say that Mr. Hoover is very anxious to retain the ambassador's services in his administration, preferably in his present post. It is believed that Morrow will acquiesce in this program.

Morrow has been ambassador to Mexico for more than two years. When he went to Mexico City the relations between the two countries probably were as bad as it was possible for them to be, short of actual intervention. By dint of hard work and some extraordinarily shrewd diplomacy things are on the mend in Mexico-American relations.

But the job is only half completed. The obnoxious land and petroleum laws, which brought the two countries almost to an open break, are still on the statute books in Mexico, although most of the irritation over their application has been removed. There is reason to hope that they will be modified or ameliorated under the new era of good feeling which Morrow initiated.

Mr. Hoover wants this work continued, for more reasons than one. He wants Mexican-American relations to continue on the present progressively peaceful plane and he considers Morrow the man to do the directing in Mexico City. Moreover, having just returned from his good will tour of South American and Central American countries, the president (Continued On Page Two)

Baldridge Named Superior Judge

Superior Court Judge; Cyrus
Woods Succeeds Baldridge

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 24.—Governor John S. Fisher today announced the appointment of Attorney General Thomas J. Baldridge to the Superior court bench. Baldridge will be succeeded by Cyrus E. Wood as attorney general of the commonwealth.

The elevation of Baldridge is the first break in the governor's cabinet. He will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge John J. Henderson, Meadville.

Baldridge was born in Hollidaysburg and was educated at Andover Academy, Bucknell University and the law school of the University of Pennsylvania.

He was admitted to the bar in March, 1895. In 1910 he was appointed judge of the Blair county courts. He was elected to succeed himself in 1911 and was re-elected in 1921. At the beginning of the Fisher administration he resigned to become attorney general.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Victorious in a battle with the hungry waves of the Atlantic for the second time in three years, Captain George Fried of the United States Liner America pointed his ship toward New York today after snatching thirty-two men from a watery grave.

After a 21-hour race through mountainous seas, the famous skipper located the disabled Italian Freighter Florida some 700 miles off the Virginian Capes, where she had been buffeted by heavy seas since sending out an S. O. S. at noon Tuesday. At ten o'clock last night, less than three hours after the America sighted the freighter, the Florida's full crew had been transferred safely to comfortable quarters on the giant liner.

Winter Ice On Detroit River
Gives Chance For New System

DECLARE NEW PLAN
HAS BEEN ADOPTED

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Jan. 24.—Six inches of ice, interrupted only by 200 feet of open water in the Detroit river, is enabling downriver "unporters" to reap a harvest in run-running, according to reports today.

Applying inventive genius the run smugglers have evoked a simple but speedy method of conveying their cargo from the Canadian to the American shore. Innocent looking automobiles drive up to export docks on the Canadian side where their cargoes, "assigned to Cuba," are loaded into scows. The scows are then hitched to the rear of the automobiles and zig-zagged across the ice to the open channel near the American side.

Here the scows are pushed into the ice-choked water where their crews work a tortuous passage through the ice blocks to boathouses on the American side, spectators say, the automobiles meanwhile hitching on two empty scows and speeding back to the export docks.

At least four cars spent a busy afternoon yesterday, according to one eye-witness, who said that after the loaded scows had disappeared in the boathouses, trucks labeled "furniture," "dry goods," or "flowers," went away from the boathouses and headed toward Detroit.

Argue Over What To Legislate In Special Session

Capital Leaders Favor Presenting Many Problems In Extra Session

FARM RELIEF TO GET BIG PLAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. President-Elect Hoover is to be called upon to settle another problem which is vexing administration leaders in connection with the special session of congress in the spring.

It is whether the session shall be limited to farm relief and partial tariff revision, as he has already indicated he favored, or shall be thrown open to general legislation.

Some of the capital leaders are not at all satisfied with the program to organize only those committees in the house which deal with agriculture and tariff. A revolt is threatened that may upset the plans laid by Speaker Longworth, Rep. Tilson of Connecticut, Republican floor leader, to restrict the session.

For instance, Rep. Newton of Minnesota, chief of the Hoover Speakers Bureau in the mid-west, feels that inland waterways legislation is so essential it should come up in April. He insists the party promised waterways improvements as an adjunct of farm relief.

Unless Mr. Hoover intercedes, the discussion is likely to spread. If Mr. Hoover says he wants the session limited, the opposition probably will be ineffective.

Farewell Tea For Senior A Girl Reserves

Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 until 5 o'clock there was a Farewell Tea in the social room of the Y. W. C. A. The event was given by the Cabinet and interest group heads of the Senior High Girl Reserve club. The tea honored the Senior A girls of the Girl Reserve club of Senior high, who are graduating from high school this semester.

Approximately 35 girls were present. During the afternoon there was an informal program by way of entertainment. There was a vocal solo by Mrs. W. J. Caldwell and some entertainment numbers of members of the club, consisted of an Apache dance by two girls, several piano solos and a number of readings.

Later there were dainty refreshments. Tea was poured by Mrs. Ethel Kelly and Miss Elsie Calvin, club advisors. Decorations were pretty, there being a bouquet of coral sweet peas and yellow roses, tall green tapers in crystal holders. Green and white ones were carried out in serving.

The Pa News some time think that their daily stint is not perused by the customers. But not so, dear sir, not quite so. Let one of the family make a gross error and there are half a hundred wanting to correct the error. The complaints are an indication of some close reading anyhow.

Boy Scouts have made good use of the Christmas trees that they collected. Already a number of the troops and patrols have their finished products ready.

Icy sidewalks all over the city should be enough to call the attention of home owners to the necessity of obeying a city ordinance that which should enforce people to clean snow from their walks immediately after the fall stops. Many people "faw down" (ah, there, Winchell!), go boom, arouse, mutter a few sulphurous remarks about sidewalks and home owners and went on their way. With a little effort this situation could be remedied. A plank in the platform of the hypothetical Better Business bureau would be "Clean snow from sidewalks immediately after the fall."

An interesting sidelight on the show "Dracula" which was to have played in New Castle December 31, has just developed. Marjorie Daw was co-starred with William Tilden, III, when the show closed at Youngstown, has just become Mrs. Myron Seznick of the motion picture world. Perhaps that is one of the reasons that the show did close so hurriedly. Anyhow, "Dracula" was like a book, because it opens and shuts.

One of the features of the Shakespearean presentation at The Cathedral Friday and Saturday will be the beautiful new sets, especially designed for the production by Le Roi Opera, a man who even now practically lives in Elizabethan England. It is claimed that while the sets may not depict actualities, they catch the spirit remarkably and are done in the modern manner.

At all events, not many people of New Castle would enjoy Shakespeare as it was presented at the first world premiere at the old Globe theater in London. There the choicest seats were on the stage, and were occupied by the dandies of the area. In the pits stood the hot polloi. And, if these dandies did not like the show, or the acting of any character, they felt at perfect liberty to chase him off the stage at the point of their swords, or to close the show by making a great alarm. Those in the pits were not considered.

Cyrus Horner, chief of police, has had a tedious task during the past week. He has had to compile the service record of members of the department for reference when the police and firemen's pension bill is passed, which is anticipated. He had to dig through records dating back to the administration of Harry Lusk as mayor.

Seldom does the name of Policeman James Wynner appear in print. It isn't that Policeman Wynner does not do his duty but rather as a tribute that he does. Wynner has been on the force for many years. He knows practically everybody in the city and knows when an arrest should and should not be made. He is a First ward patrolman.

Excitement will reign in Ellwood City, Friday night as it is then that their foremost pugilistic citizen will make a big bid for high state honor. He is Emmett Rocco, heavyweight, who meets Jake Gross in a semi-final to the Jack Sharkey-Ed. O. Christner bout at Madison Square garden, New York.

elect is impressed with the knowledge that Mexico wields considerable influence in Latin American affairs, and that the distrust of the Latin people of North American policies has been largely engendered by the almost constant embroilment between Mexico City and Washington.

It is considered far more likely, therefore, that Mr. Hoover urged upon his breakfast guest this morning that he remain on the job in Mexico City, than that he leave this delicate situation to others and accept public service promotion in the shape of a cabinet position. It is doubtful, however, if any public announcement will be made at this time. Mr. Hoover is proceedings about the selection of his cabinet, and the arrangements of his foreign staff in his own way. And that way apparently does not include piecemeal announcements as to personnel and future policies.

Fishing Trip Arranged. The conference with Morrow is probably the last business engagement the president-elect will have for several days. He came to Florida to fish and relax. The fishing starts today. After the Morrow visit, Mr. Hoover plans to shove off with a party of friends for the fishing grounds of the celebrated Florida Keys. He does not expect to return to his Belle Isle headquarters for several days, providing the fishing is good and the weather continues as pleasant as it has been.

The trip has been arranged in the nature of an armada against the tarpon, sailfish, barracuda, marlin and other deep sea game fish that abound in these waters. Two houseboats are being taken—the Amtic, owned by J. H. Adams, and the Saunterer, owned by Jeremiah Milbank, banker, who was the eastern treasurer of the Republican national committee during the campaign. The fishermen will live in these and fish from three smaller boats which accompany the others.

The party includes the president-elect and Mrs. Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. Milbank, Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Richey and E. G. Lowery.

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 24.—Dwight W. Morrow, the banker-diplomat who has accomplished marvels toward restoring good relations between the United States and Mexico has consented to carry on his ambassadorship into the Hoover administration after March 4.

This was the net result of a three hour conference between Mr. Morrow and Mr. Hoover today at the latter's Belle Isle retreat in Biscayne Bay. Mr. Morrow came to breakfast and left a short time before lunch.

Perhaps a hundred curious onlookers viewed the body. It is believed to be the first time that an execution was ever viewed by the public in Pennsylvania. JOINT MEETING OF JEWISH COUNCILS

The annual joint meeting of the Senior and Junior sections of the Council of Jewish Women took place Wednesday evening at Temple Israel, with the senior chairman, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger presiding, with an unusually large attendance.

Prayer was read by Miss Freda Rosenblum.

A graphic and detailed report of the recent peace conference in Washington, D. C., was given by Mrs. William Cose, who was the official delegate of New Castle Section.

Mrs. Emanuel Roman introduced Miss Yettabelle Rosenblum, president of the Junior Council who took charge for the remainder of the program.

Mrs. William Gordon, talented reader held her audience with her interpretations on Joyce Kilmer's "The House With No Door" and "Prelude" by Chopin, and "Waterfall" by MacDowell, were beautifully rendered by Miss Lena Richards.

Miss Miriam Schoenfeld of Pittsburgh, regional director of religious schools of Pennsylvania and a speaker for the National Council, and prominent club woman, was the speaker of the evening, and held her audience with her vivid personality.

She told of the various departments of the National Council along the lines of peace propaganda, farm and rural work, education of the blind and deaf, scholarship funds, and religious education in which she is especially interested.

Miss Schoenfeld urged the Juniors to think of their work as a training school for the Senior organization, and likened them to the spokes of a wheel in which the failure of one weakens the entire wheel. She closed in a more humorous vein telling "Fourteen Ways to Kill the Council."

Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger, closed the meeting with prayer.

A social time followed and refreshments were served by the committee composed of Mrs. Jack Frank, Mrs. J. Gold, Mrs. A. Goldman, Mrs. A. Gonic, Mrs. M. Goodstein, Mrs. L. Groden, Mrs. I. Grossman, Mrs. J. Harris, and Mrs. J. Hershman.

SPRING IS ON ITS WAY

DURING the bleak and sometimes violent days of January there is some comfort in the thought that the days are getting longer. There is a pleasant sensation in the discovery about this time of the year that it is no longer necessary to get up in the "middle of the night" to go to work and to return home after dark.

As the days lengthen the mind turns to thoughts of spring. Quite before you know it some one will communicate to the newspapers the information that the first robin has arrived. Robins and marble games in the streets are the first true harbingers of spring, and both are on their way.

King Winter has by no means spent his forces, but with January singing his swan song and the midget month certain to pass rapidly, he will have to work swiftly if he wants to maintain his reputation for being disagreeable. Blizzards, cold snaps and sleet storms are coming in the north, and so is an ascendant sun which will see to it that there will be an increasing number of good days among the bad.

There is no better way to forget the discomforts and privations of winter than to anticipate garden-making, fishing and motoring days, and spring house-cleaning time is still far enough in the future for housewives to ponder the subject without a sense of dread.

THE THRIFT DECALOG

THRIFT WEEK should not be allowed to pass without holding fast to this admirable set of thrift commandments given out by the National Thrift Committee. It is worth learning by heart:

- 1—Work and earn.
- 2—Make a budget.
- 3—Record expenditures.
- 4—Carry life insurance.
- 5—Have a bank account.
- 6—Own your own home.
- 7—Make a will.
- 8—Pay bills promptly.
- 9—Invest in safe securities.
- 10—Share with others.

Some of these, perhaps, may be ignored by persons who are naturally thrifty and strong-minded. Anyone who instinctively weighs the merit of every purchase and saves his small change in preference to spending it may not need a formal budget or a detailed record of expenditures. It is even possible to imagine men so careful of the future that they will provide adequately for their families, against the chance of their own death, without life insurance policies.

But such providential strong-mindedness is rare. Nearly all of us, in order to get ahead and make the future secure for ourselves and those whose fortunes are bound up with ours, have to systematize the thing, establish more or less automatic machinery for it and place ourselves in positions where we are morally or legally bound to make definite, regular savings and investments.

THE PARKING HOG

THE road hog is almost extinct, thanks to improved highways and traffic conditions which make hogging the road almost certain suicide, but his place has been taken by the parking hog whose inconsiderate practices are not less exasperating than those of the driver who not only expected but took more than half the road.

Twenty years ago it was justifiable homicide, in the eyes of the motorist, to stay in cold blood the cantankerous old foggy who, with his old gray mare and buckboard, steered a middle course down the narrow dirt road so those "smart city fellers" couldn't pass in their gas buggies.

Today, there is a worsepest abroad in the driver who monopolizes two parking spaces. This thoughtless and selfish breed is legion. The strange part of it is that the most vehement objector is often the most habitual offender.

It appears that the remedy for parking lies largely with motorists. A little more consideration for others would work wonders.

SAYS GOLF BRINGING 5-DAY WEEK

FRANCIS D. PERKINS, New York's Commissioner of Labor, has made an important discovery. It is that golf is humanizing industry, and is largely responsible for the tendency in the direction of a five-day working week. How does this happen? Well, the executives of business, big and little, have become so enthusiastic over the game that they not only take Sunday off for themselves, but are giving the same privilege to their employees. Miss Perkins predicts that it will not be many years before executives and employees will be playing golf regularly. "It has made the executives see the human side of life," she says, "and has resulted in the humanizing of both employer and employee."

The American dollar is the only successful universal language.

Most persons show more disposition to yearn for dollars than to earn them.

We need not worry much about posterity. It will be short. Everything has to be handed down to it.

Why not a fitting memorial to the Unknown Racecoon whose supreme sacrifice has made the winter safe for sophomores?

Dietary experts say that as a matter of fact a person may become intoxicated on water. We used to see him years ago, on excursion boats.

Today

Hoover in Florida.
Kaiser No Coward.
$89,600,000 Hot Dogs.
One More Miracle.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1929, King Features
Syn. Inc.)

Herbert Hoover is in Florida and welcome, as you may imagine. To have a Californian visit Florida for a vacation is a tribute. California need not worry, for in this case it is distance that counts. Mr. Hoover is within reach of the crowd from Washington, and that crowd he must deal with until after March 4.

When his work begins, Mr. Hoover evidently expects to be a busy President. He will enlarge the working space in the White House, the "offices," probably to make room for specialists in engineering and other work that he has in mind.

Messrs. Hill, Macphail and Hilles are said to be "Mr. Hoover's triumvirate" to keep New York state in line and hold the gains among independent voters won in the last election. What happened in the last election is not understood by anybody who imagines that it is simply a case of "independent voters" moving from one party to the other.

A letter by Gen. von Hindenburg, President of the German republic, to be sold at auction, says, "The Kaiser is no deserter." The armistice stopped the war, says Gen. Hindenburg, and so the Kaiser had no opportunity "to die like a hero at the head of his troops." The Kaiser left for Holland because he did not want to stir up civil war at home.

The Kaiser was no coward, and his regiment of tall sons were not cowards. But they missed many opportunities to "die like heroes" at the head of their troops" before the war stopped. That hurt them with Germany. One little wound, on one little Prince, would have helped Hohenzollern popularity.

Chicago packers say $90,000,000 sausage campaign called "hot dogs," were eaten last year.

Properly made, well cooked, eaten at regular hours, and chewed slowly to avoid swallowing small pieces whole, the "hot dogs" are good for men. But eaten between meals, haphazard and rapidly, they contribute to the 50,000,000 cases of American dyspepsia.

A child in Chicago, 5 years old, born without feet, will be enabled to walk, run and play by surgeons operating on the muscles of the upper leg.

That is an interesting miracle, and there are many others in modern science. Those born deaf and dumb, that never hear a sound, learn to speak and understand the speech of others. With imagination's power, never having seen the earth or the sun or the sound of a friend's voice, they are able to understand beauty and friendship.

That answers those who ask: "Is there really such a thing as a soul?" Count Sforza, once Italian minister for foreign affairs, anti-Fascist and now out of a job, coming to lecture for the Carnegie Peace Endowment, says, "The only lesson of the war is that no one won."

That's one lesson, but there is one more important. It teaches that the wise nations prepared for war. If France hadn't been prepared, able to hold the German army back, giving England time to assemble an army, William and his sons might each have a throne in Western Europe now.

Magistrate Ewald, who believes in respect for the lives of others, sentenced 14 speeders to terms in jail and made them walk to prison handcuffed together.

This seems severe, but it is important to impress upon motorists the fact that the man on foot has a right to live. Success depends on ORGANIZATION. With the right kind of organization, and if you know how to ORGANIZE, DEPUTIZE, SUPERVISE, you are safe.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., supposed to be engaged in a hard fight with Col. Stewart for control of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, is wandering through Egypt, looking at interesting mummies. He knows that his organization is at work.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson, now at Singapore, bound for India, says he means to "dry up all of the East." Kipling's man who wanted to be taken "somewhere east of Suez," where a man can raise a thirst, would not like that.

Johnson even hopes to establish prohibition in Britain, thinking the British will give up beer. They have a queer idea that men have a right to drink what they want to drink.

A $5,000,000 corporation is organized to finance purchase of airplanes on the installment plan, as buying of automobiles is financed.

That is excellent news for aviation. Installment selling, once violently opposed, is absolutely necessary to complete development of the automobile industry, and will doubtless promote the airplane industry.

Enjoy it while you pay for it, is the modern plan.

NOT A WEAKER SEX

It is quite the custom of public speakers, making addresses to audiences of women, to be condescending and patronizing. They appear to go on the assumption that it is strange that women should be interested in affairs that interest men or in anything other than cooking and sewing. Any public speaker with common sense or with the ability to get the psychological reaction from his audience, knows that the average group of women listen more intently and intelligently to a speech than the average group of men. Women have a right to be insulted by the attitude of many public speakers—an attitude that indicates that the speaker feels he is talking to children. Only the superior courtesy of women keeps them from walking out on such a lecture.

EDITORS GUILTY

As to the "looking down upon women" attitude, editors of newspapers are also not without guilt. They mark several pages in the newspapers as "women's pages" and fill them with matter which traditionally is supposed to engage the attention of their women readers. The fact is that it is not safe, in this second quarter of the 20th century, to take any traditional attitude toward women. Women on the average are as much interested in peace treaties and warship programs as men. They have just as much at stake and are just as good citizens. Magazine pages or so-called women's pages in newspapers are frequently interesting. The writer of this column finds them so and would not care to see them abolished. But he labors under neither of two common delusions: first, that only

APOLOGY
Not much good in apology if it's a mere matter of soft and gentle words. To be sure the form of apology is better than the form of continued anger, better than no gesture of sorrow. But apology which does not carry with it the conviction of a real intention to do better hereafter is only a bit of lubricant. No power resides in it.

UNEXPECTED ANSWERS.
Sometimes the speaker from the pulpit receives some unexpected answers to his exhortations. Here are two:

One of the old fire and brimstone type evangelists, holding forth in Louisville, Ky., was driving his message home—in a very realistic manner. "Yes, my friends," he shouted, "although you are all above sin, each one of you must beware of the Demon. The Demon is chained to the wall, waiting to jump out and catch you. If you give him the slightest chance, he'll stretch out his hand in front and grab you. Or he'll stretch out to the right and grab you. Or he'll stretch out to the left and grab you. And he'll even stretch out behind and grab you!" This was a little too much for a man seated in the middle row of seats, who rising to his feet, shouted: "Well, the thing might as well be loose."

Another preacher of the same type drew a picture of Judgment Day. He painted in the Sheep and he painted in the Goats and then dramatically cried: "Who will be a Goat?" War-Outlawry Pact Important As Influence On World Thought

Senate Approval Of Briand-Kellogg Treaty Accepted By American Press As Movement Toward New International Standard

American comment on the approval of the Briand-Kellogg anti-war treaty which suggests as the only order of the United States emphasizes the point that, however, inadequate may be any present day machinery as an actual preventive of all war, the treaty is at least a step toward a standard of peace in a world which throughout history has thought in terms of war.

Quoting Lincoln as one who lauded the Declaration of Independence as "a stumbling block to offenders against the 'glittering generalities' of human rights," the TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL says: "So will be the formal pronouncement of 60 leading governments of the world that war must go, that it is evil, that it offends humanity, that it is finally now, for the first time in man's slow upward march, against the law of nations." The LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL believes that "if the nations involved fail to keep this pledge, made on their honor, no complicated agreement could do more than the simply worded pact."

The SAVANNAH PRESS calls it "a righteous gesture," and "A step forward, a movement for peace in solemn declaration against war," is seen by the BANGOR DAILY COMMERCIAL. The OAKLAND TRIBUNE declares the treaty is "something upon which a world may build a better structure."

The FLINT DAILY JOURNAL feels that "any nation which deliberately ignores and violates this pact must stand convicted before the bar of world opinion." The SCRANTON TIMES describes it as a prospective "test of the good faith of the nations involved," and the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICTAYNE believes the "danger of betrayal and treachery must be lessened."

It is truly a crowning act for President Coolidge's administration, avers the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE. The ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS is pleased that "this nation finally has spoken with a voice ringing with sincerity and left no doubt as to her desire to cooperate with her neighbors, near and remote, in the banishment of war." The SCHENECTADY GAZETTE calls it "a frank and official admission that every possible effort should be made to avoid a clash of arms."

"On the whole a very satisfactory consummation of a great achievement for peace," observes the ST. LOUIS "GLOBE-DEMOCRAT," while the ST. PAUL DAILY NEWS recognizes action which "will increase our prestige abroad a hundredfold," and the ASTORIA STAR concludes as to its effect: "Probably the most optimistic supporters of the treaty do not believe that it means the end of all armed conflict. But they see it as one objective gained and believe that we are making progress toward the day of permanent peace."

"If there is ever a time when bells should be rung and rejoicings be heard throughout the land it is on the occasion of this ratification," says the UTICA OBSERVER-DISPATCH, and the BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE, argues: "When honor and good faith are solemnly pledged to the promotion of peace and the avoidance of war, no nation will be likely to pledge abruptly or fail to pause even when it thinks its sovereign rights are in question."

Who sets men laughing does a useful task!

When just your song began Old Age was near.
One robed in black for some one shed a tear
And there were faces lined with care and fear.

But now they laugh and vanished is the care.
Gone are the hurts and griefs which mortals know.
Care cannot stay where men are laughing so.

Laughter wipes out the difference of birth.
Age is forgotten and the pangs of earth.

Something sensible. "Better to light a Lucky whenever you crave fattening sweets." It brings to men the health and vigor that come with avoiding overweight. To women it offers a slender, fashionable figure.

20,679 physicians have stated that Lucky Strike is less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes. Very likely this is due to toasting which removes impurities. This same process, toasting, improves and develops the flavor of the world's finest tobaccos. This means that there is a flavor in Luckies which is a delightful alternative for the things that make you fat. That's why "It's Toasted" is your assurance that there's real health in Luckies—they're good for you!

Keep fit—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. That's what many men have been doing for years. They know the evidence of prominent athletes whose favorite cigarette is Lucky Strike and who say Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY
INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

What we call civilization has the same trouble. It cannot resist the impulse to execute those that commit murder. Harsh is sentenced to death. But if any murderer must be executed, it should be one whose defense proves him a constant menace to public safety.

One rag, however, got smart alecky with the phone company last summer, so the sensitive phone phreak evaded things. The rag's phone number was switched. Instead of being an easy one to remember, it is now as complicated as a safe combination, and even the reporters on assignment frequently must look it up before sending in a hot story.

NEWSPAPER STUFF

Before he went to holiday at Palm Beach he told Heywood Brown that it was easier to column about people when we didn't know them. The more contacts we made, we said, the more difficult it was to reveal news concerning them. "They come and tell me things about themselves," we added, "but then they urge me not to publish them."

"Well," advised Brown, whose counsel is always valuable, "why don't you do what a great editor once told me to do? Tell them that you won't violate their confidence until you hear the report from two other sources, and nine times out of 10 you'll hear it from three."

BRINGING UP FATHER

It remained for Lewis Beach, who authored "The Goose Hangs High," among other plays, to dramatize the dregs of And why not a druggist? The Bootlegger, the Gunman, the Gentleman of Leisure, the Preacher, the Night Clubber and other genuinely American characters, have been caricatured or revealed as they are on the stage. So Mr. Beach had little left from which to choose. Thus, "Merry Andrew," which the Lawrence Rivers, Inc., presented at the Henry Miller, revolves around Andrew Aiken, a drug store proprietor in a western town, who retired after working since he was 14, only to discover that he was most unhappy when he had nothing to do.

The auditors appeared pleased with the new piece. They responded heartily at the plight of the doddering old fellow when he grumbled and otherwise made himself disagreeable at home. Yet "Merry Andrew" is only a lukewarm comedy, at best, acted well enough by some of its troupe, but it probably will not relieve the so-named theatrical slump.

Senate Resumes Consideration Of Cruiser Measure

Senate Leaders Predict Passage Of New Cruiser Bill Inside Of Week

DEFICIENCY BILL PASSED IN SENATE

Seek To Eliminate Inequality Between Navies Of Britain And United States

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—With leaders predicting its enactment by the week-end, the senate today resumed consideration of the administration's new cruiser bill, which proposes to eliminate some of the naval inequality between the United States and Great Britain.

The path for action on the naval bill was cleared by enactment of the first deficiency appropriation bill, with a compromise agreement concerning the $75,000,000 item for payment of federal tax refunds. An amendment was added to the bill, under which money can be paid only on refunds ordered after a public hearing and the decision on which has been made public. This satisfied the Democratic-insurgent coalition which originally sought to strip Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon of all authority over tax refunds in excess of $10,000.

The first deficiency bill meanwhile was returned to the house, which must approve not only the tax refund item but the $24,250,000 appropriated for better enforcement of prohibition. Should the house reject either item, a fresh battle probably will be staged in the senate.

The cruiser bill, however, had the right of way in the senate. Administration leaders reported they had secured a gentleman's agreement from the opposition not to filibuster against the bill.

Exhausted Because of a Cough

ASTHMA cough can wreck your whole body—sap vitality. Each spasm not only irritates the delicate membranes of your throat but puts a severe strain upon your chest, stomach and other vital organs.

Your health demands that coughs be checked. They feed upon your strength—lower your resistance—expose you to more serious infections.

At the first sign of a cough or throat irritation, take PERTUSSIN. It helps Nature free the air passages of germladen mucus, soothes the irritation and quiets the cough. PERTUSSIN has been prescribed more often for coughs than any other advertised remedy.

PERTUSSIN is safe even for small children and convalescents—a good remedy for "coughs that hang on." It is free from dope—does not upset the stomach and can be taken as often as necessary. At all druggists.

Lindbergh Plans Good Will Tour Of South America

Colonel Lindbergh To Make Good Will Tour, To Establish New Air Route

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Jan. 24.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will start away on a good-will tour of South America within the next 30 days according to Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, ace of aces in the World War, who made the announcement of the flying Colonel's new tour to members of the Michigan Automotive Traders association at their annual meeting here today.

Details of the forthcoming flight are now being ironed out. Rickenbacker said. While the proposed trip has never been revealed before, Rickenbacker pointed out that President-Elect Hoover had set an example in his recent South American good-will tour which would be followed by the government with its air messenger, Lindbergh.

Within the next year an air line with regular service will be started along the route that Lindbergh will fly, Rickenbacker said. This route would be down the west coast of South America to the Cape and up the east coast, through Argentina and Brazil.

Governor Will Give Reception

State's Chief Executive To Be At Home To Members Of General Assembly February 5

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 24.—Tuesday evening, February 5 Governor John S. Fisher will be "at home." On that evening he will give his biennial reception to the members of the General Assembly in the mansion on Front street.

The Governor's reception is the one function which the wives of the members plan to attend. From all over the state they come and the Monday night session shows the House and the Senate chambers full of women guests who are there to see everything there is of interest.

In all probabilities there will not be many more receptions held in the present mansion on Front street. It never rated the title of mansion for it is an old fashioned, poorly laid out house and the General Assembly has had an idea for several years that the governor of this commonwealth rated a house that fit in with the dignity of the office.

Thomas Describes Scioto Street Work

William A. Thomas, boys' work secretary of the New Castle Y. M. C. A., talked to the members of the Phalanx fraternity at their regular weekly meeting on Wednesday night. He told of the splendid work that Phalanx is carrying on at the Scioto street educational center and urged a greater interest from each member.

During the business meeting Edward McElmonds was voted into the membership of the fraternity. Preceding the meeting was the customary dinner at the Y cafeteria.

Delay Action On Eligibility Rules

At a meeting of the principals and coaches of local junior high schools held Wednesday evening in the administration building no action was taken on the proposed ruling that trade school pupils transferred to junior high schools would be ineligible to participate in any athletics. It was suggested that 16 years of age be the limit for eligible junior high students to take part in athletics. The suggestion was tabled for further consideration.

Holy Name Society Service Sunday

New Members Will Be Received At Service In St. Joseph's Church

St. Joseph's Branch of the Holy Name Society will have its annual reception of new members next Sunday evening, January 27, at 7:45 o'clock in the parish church.

All members as well as the candidates will attend and the services of the evening will consist of the reception of the new members, a sermon entitled "Christian Manhood" by pastor, Rev. A. J. Weisenberger, the Holy Name pledge and benediction. It will be a service of interest to all members of the parish as well as others who desire to attend.

The Holy Name Society is a purely religious organization excluding all politics and interests alien to Christian endeavor. Nearly all men and young men over sixteen years of age, professing the Catholic faith are members of the society, so that in late years it has grown to be the foremost society of the church in this country.

Its principal aim is to inculcate reverence for the Holy Name, to profess the divinity of Christ, to protect against and avoid all blasphemous and vulgar speech.

The sermon Sunday evening will deal with the principals of the society and the benefits to be derived in following the same.

Long Avenue Man In Possession Of Old Italian Plaque

Nicholas Joseph Declares Plaque Is Old Italian Antique

An old Italian plaque which is thought to be several hundred years old is the property of Nicholas Joseph of East Long avenue, this city. The plaque bears the inscription, "Ergo Libamus," and is bowl-shaped. In the center is the mold of a man's head, a soldier, carrying a canteen. "It is," states Mr. Joseph, "a most unique affair and the source of much interest on the part of spectators."

Mr. Joseph states that an old lady gave the plaque to him nearly 20 years ago in Greensburg, Pa. Joseph was a small lad at the time and admiring the picture in the home of a rich Italian lady, received it as a gift from her.

The woman stated that it had belonged to her great-grand-mother, who had lived in Italy.

Old Time Fiddlers To Play At Slippery Rock

Applications from fiddlers and harmonica players of every age and degree of skill from widely scattered points, have swamped the Slippery Rock Boosters' committee in charge of the old-time contest scheduled in the College chapel Tuesday evening, February 5. The event has caught popular attention and enthusiasm has spread to an unbelievable degree.

Assured that the old-time program will appeal to the public, the committee has branched out to include a number of specialties. From a old fiddlers contest, the program has been developed to include harmonica players, a unique sketch by the "Happy Bunch Band" of Sharon, a whistling feature by Miss Helen Dickey of Butler, and other acts which are being arranged. All that remains incomplete is to receive word from Henry Ford, foremost exponent of "Americana," that he will be present, to insure the biggest night in the history of Slippery Rock.

Slippery Rock's band is scheduled to play a half-hour's program, from 7 to 7:30, preceding the contest. All contestants and performers will be guests of the Boosters Club at a dinner, and no effort will be spared to provide amusement galore to all.

Featuring the entry list for the harmonica contest are the names of Joseph Seiter, of the music faculty of Slippery Rock Teachers College; Mike Romanski, of Etna Springs; and J. L. Davis, of Grove City. Old fiddlers known for their ability who will appear are Joseph McCall, Butler; G. W. Hoover, Portersville; Harry McCracken and George Reed, Worth Township; and the Wally brothers, of the Pittsburgh district. Many others are also included. It is planned to classify the contestants by ages, to give all an equal chance.

The "Happy Bunch Band" of Sharon, consisting of L. M. Titler and John and Lawrence Buckalew, fiddlers; Howard Buckalew, pianist; and Cecil Phillips, bones, make up a combination which will provide one of the unusual features of the program. The committee plans to arrange a fiddle and harmonica band to play a number of selections.

By and large, the evening promises to be one of much "whoopie" and hilarity. The committee is already beginning to worry about providing seats for all who will wish to witness the contest.

The Pennsylvania witch business seems very odd to a local fellow who changes seats 12 times during a ball game, to change the Tigers' luck.—The Detroit News.

Man Of 72 Tells Of His Splendid Experience With Only Three Bottles Of Kenjola.

The miraculous work of this new medicine, Kenjola, never ceases. With each passing day more glowing and amazing reports are received of its wonderful restorations to health. Take, for example, the case of Mr. M. H. Lovell, 112 East Fifth Street, Oil City, who made the following statement:

"I am back from the first hunting trip I have been able to take in years. Thanks to Kenjola, I suffered for years with stomach and liver troubles and neuritis. I had tried everything, all had failed. I thought my age—72—was against me.

"I heard about Kenjola, but doubted if this new medicine could help me. I decided to take a chance. Well, instead of taking a chance with Kenjola I was playing a sure thing. The third bottle finished my indigestion, the liver troubles were corrected and, best of all, the terrible neuritis pains had left. The person who called Kenjola the master medicine knew what he was talking about. It surely scored a bullseye in my case."

Kenjola is sold in New Castle, Pa., at the Love & Megown drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

so how can I give it up," she explained. Her ladyship is very subtle and one often has to ponder over her remarks. During the operation, it was recalled that her husband was Sir James Heath, 75, who publicly announced that he would not be responsible for his wife's debts as long as she remained in aviation.

Holds Air Records
Lady Heath holds the world's altitude record for women in piloting a light aeroplane. She was the first woman to fly from Capetown to Cairo. She is 31 and a champion athlete.

"I don't know what I shall do," declared her ladyship. "I do so want to be an American citizen—it must be so nice."

"Is your title hereditary?" she was asked. The naturalization law said "hereditary titles."

"No," Lady Heath beamed, looking as delighted as if she had seen a break in a ceiling of fog. "It isn't hereditary. I married it."

So her ladyship can try it on the judge—in five years. She cannot get her final citizenship papers until that time. And even untitled women have been known to change their minds within five years.

Offer 10 Acres For Oil City Athletic Field

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 24.—William K. and Walter S. Borland, well known local residents and political leaders of Venango county, have notified members of the local school board that they will donate 10 acres of land in the tenth ward of the city for a school athletic field if the board desires to accept the property. At the present time the high school has no athletic field.

It was planned by the board to purchase a field and then started a campaign for funds sufficient to finance the equipping of the property. An option had been taken on a piece of ground in the Fourth and Ninth wards for that purpose. Just what action the board will take regarding the offer of the Messrs. Borland has not yet been announced.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—that most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

Navajo Indian Finger Printed To Curb Rows

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Foreseeing days of possible discord and strife when the fabulous riches of the Navajo Indians are divided, the Interior Department has begun tagging and finger-printing each tribesman to provide definite proof of his identity.

The Navajo's, a remote and isolated people, have no birth certificates. Sheep-raising nomads, they break in small groups and scatter widely, it was explained. These facts made it necessary for the Indian Commissioner to devise some scheme of keeping tab on them.

So each Indian is being finger-printed, after which his name is placed on the tribal rolls. He is then issued a metal disc such as American soldiers wore during the World War.

This enrollment serves also, the Interior Department said, in taking an Indian census. For these people, in remote parts of Utah, Colorado, and New Mexico, are hard to reach. The department believes the census will reveal a Navajo population of around 33,000.

The Indians, realizing the financial value of tribal membership, have been anxious to be enrolled by the government employees and other Indians who take the census.

From now on each Indian baby will be finger-printed and assigned a disc when he is born. The disc must be worn until death, when it is returned to the government.

The Interior Department is planning to conduct similar census among the other outlying Indian tribes, it was said.

Bulgarian King To Marry Lovely Italian Princess

Arrangements Reported Complete For Wedding Of King
Boris And Princess
Giovanna

VIENNA, Jan. 24.—There was every evidence today of an alliance between "Dictator" Cypri of the Realm of Heats, and Dictator Mussolini of Italy to further the ambitious plans of the Roman statesman for expansion of Italian influence in the Balkans.

According to advices from Belgrade, quoting Sofia reports printed in the newspaper Vreme, arrangements have nearly been completed for a matrimonial alliance between the royal houses of Bulgaria and Italy.

It is understood in Sofia that King
Boris, the bachelor king of Bulgaria, will be married to Princess Giovanna, daughter of King Victor Emmanuel,
either in Sofia or Italy on Easter day.

King Boris has long been pressing his suit for the hand of the beautiful young Italian princess. It has been reported on several occasions that the announcement of their engagement was imminent.

Recently a high prelate of the Orthodox church at Sofia left for Rome, presumably to arrange the ecclesiastical matters connected with the supposed betrothal.

Mussolini Works Hard.
Ever since he came into power Premier Mussolini of Italy has been working to extend Italian prestige and influence in the Balkans. He contrasted a close alliance between Italy and Albania. "The alliance is so close that it is alleged in Yugoslavia that Albania is little more than an Italian vassal state. It was reported in this connection that a marriage might be arranged between King Zogu, the new monarch of Albania, and Princess Giovanna. However, Boris seems to have outwitted the Albanian king in the battle of hearts.

Wants Teachers To Be Watch Dogs

Stroudsburg Man Believes That Teachers Duties Should Be Extended

STRONDSBURG, Pa., Jan. 24.—
John K. Kunkle, Monroe county superintendent of schools, believes that the duties of the public school teachers of his county go beyond the regular hours of the class rooms.

"Too many teachers believe their duty ends when they leave the school room," Kunkle told the school directors at a recent conference.

He pointed out that many public high school students smoke too many cigarettes and have too many "dates" at night to get the most from their studies. He advocated the policy of having instructors keep in contact with their pupils outside the school room and lead them in the right direction.

Danger Signals of High Blood Pressure

"Dizzy spells, hot flashes, pains in the head, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and nervousness usually indicate high blood pressure," warns physician who found treatment to reduce it.

These are symptoms which show an accumulation of poisonous waste matter in the system or that one or more of your organs has weakened and caused the heart to be overtaxed.
Check it at once for it is known high blood pressure brings on hardening of the arteries, and other serious conditions.

Norma, a physician's prescription, reduces blood pressure so surely it is regarded as a great medical success.
Often one bottle brings prompt relief.

Reserve Places For Inaugural

Congressman Swick Will Make Reservations For New Castle People

ALSO TO RESERVE ROOMS IN HOTELS

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Washington Correspondent for The News
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 24.—Congressman J. Howard Swick is anxious to assist in every way possible those residents of his district who wish to secure reservations in Washington for the inauguration ceremonies, and with that end in view has been in touch with the inauguration committee.

Congressman Swick states that he will make hotel reservations and will endeavor to procure seats for the inauguration parade for his constituents, but is desirous that New Castle people wait for a few days before requesting him to purchase for them grandstand seats for the parade.

Erect Grandstand.

The congressman has been informed that a grandstand will be erected on Pennsylvania avenue between Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets which will accommodate 47,000 persons who wish to witness the inaugural parade. Of these seats, 2,000 will be reserved for congressmen and their relatives and will sell for $7.50 and $5. The remaining 45,000 seats will be sold to the public for $3.50 per seat, according to tentative plans.

Congressman Swick states, however, that this price is tentative, and that he will not know definitely for a few days what the price of seats for his constituents will be. As soon as the congressman learns the definite price of the seats The News will announce this information, and after that Swick will be glad to make reservations for residents of New Castle and local communities.

Forward Requests.

All persons who plan to visit Washington for the inauguration and who wish Congressman Swick to make reservations in the grandstand for them, should forward their requests to him in Washington along with the necessary remittances, the amount of which will be announced later by The News. It is essential that the remittances accompany all requests, as the congressman will be unable to reserve any seats without the required price.

Congressman Swick will also make hotel reservations, and suggests that such reservations should be made as soon as possible, as Washington anticipates a great crowd for the inauguration festivities.

Wants More Beds For Vets Hospital

Congressman Swick Endeavors To Have Pittsburgh Hospital Enlarged

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 24.—Congressman J. Howard Swick, who is a member of the house committee on legislation for world war veterans, has been endeavoring to have the number of beds in the Aspinwall veterans' hospital in Pittsburgh increased and is also asking that the Pittsburgh hospital be made a diagnosis center.

The committee has been holding hearings relative to veterans' legislation, and Congressman Swick has been appealing for additional attention for the Aspinwall hospital.

The congressman believes that the number of beds in the hospital should be increased, and is also of the opinion that the hospital should be made a diagnosis center, as the western section of the state is now in Philadelphia.

Prince Rigo's Widow To Wed Florida Millionaire

The Princess Rigo and her betrothed, former Governor Edward Gordon of Florida. Above, her engagement chateau in the hills of Spuyten Duyvil.

(By International Illustrated News) NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Like one of the strange romances that befell the late Prince Rigo, gypsy violinist and spectacular heart-breaker of the nineties, is the new romance of his widow, just revealed by the Princess herself.

It is the story of her coming marriage to a Florida millionaire, former Lieutenant Governor Edward Gordon, whom she met while still enduring the poverty which hastened Rigo's death two years ago. It includes also a written "compact" of helpfulness, reveals, too, that the man of wealth literally saved the Princess from being evicted from her little Hungarian tearoom in East Eighty-fourth street for non-payment of rent. And it tells how he insured her treasured relics of Rigo's gay and colorful career.

In her small chateau, an engagement gift from millionaire Gordon, located high up in the hills of Spuyten Duyvil, the widow of royalty's gayest troubadour told a little of her romance. She is the former Katherine Hadley, daughter of a Yale professor and cousin of the famous Clara Ward. Clara Ward, while married to the Prince de Chimay, eloped with Rigo, lavished her millions upon him, and then divorced him in order that her younger cousin "might see how wonderful he was" and marry him too.

The cause of her present happiness?

"I found Mr. Gordon and he found me because each answered the other's needs. He is the business man; I am the artist. I was poor and destitute, but I helped others poorer and more destitute than I. One day some friends of Mr. Gordon brought him to call, we became interested in helping others and the acquaintance ripened into love."

The former lieutenant-governor is fifty and a man of wide interests. Following the wedding he plans to take his bride upon a honeymoon through Europe, a leisurely, idyllic jaunt which may even parallel the wanderings of the picturesque Rigo himself. And sometime before they return to America they will visit the famous castle on the Nile built for Rigo by the Princess de Chimay at the time she made Leopold of Belgium bestow the title of Prince upon the gypsy violinist.

Fast Basketball Games At Shelby

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 24.—A large crowd attended the mid-week basketball inter-departmental games in the Shelby Social club.

The first game between the Office and Hot Mills was rather one-sided, resulting in a score of 44 for the Office against 17 for the Hot Mills. At the end of the half the score was 13-12 favoring the Hot Mills but during the latter half Clyde of the Office team starred, resulting in the large score.

The second game was between the Inspection quintet and the Specialty. The latter team has only been defeated once and stands fair to winning the mill championship. Last night's game ended with a score of 40 for the Specialty and 38 for Inspection.

At the half the Specialty five was behind with a score of 15 to 27. Fitzgerald for the Inspection played a brilliant game making three baskets and 4-4 fouls. Boon of the Specialty team shot seven baskets and 2 out of 7 fouls.

Glance At Private Life
Of Famous Opera Stars
Reveals Unique HobbiesBy CLARK KINNAIRD
Staff Writer for Central Press and
New Castle News

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Opera stars have peculiar hobbies. Two famous ones find recreation in playing with dolls. Another regularly gives great parties for children—anybody's children, providing there are lots of them. Still another is an ardent student of psychic phenomena.

Mme. Elizabeth Reithberg, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, believes her hobby, dolls, keeps her young.

Keeps One Young
"Association with dolls keeps one young as no exercise or elaborate beauty treatment would," she explains. "Youth must come from within. External loveliness comes only from a contented spirit, and the 'playmates' of my childhood give me that contentment, which keeps me young in mind and body."

Mme. Reithberg almost missed a train for a concert engagement in

New England last year because she learned at the last minute that her maid had neglected to pack a doll in her trunk and she wouldn't leave without it. Her manager succeeded in holding the train until the doll was aboard.

Theater audiences frequently see Lawrence Tibbett, the American baritone, whose debut a few years ago created a sensation, appearing on the stage without being aware of it. His hobby is Shakespeare and he is wont to be a guest player with a Shakespearean repertoire company between singing engagements. Incidentally, he made his first-page-story debut at the Metropolitan in "Falstaff," an adaptation of a Shakespearean drama.

Tibbett is a collector of Shakespearean plays.

Amelia Galli-Curci, who is classified among the greatest of living divas, is as ardent a student of psychic phenomena as Arthur Conan Doyle or Olive Lodge.

Coincidence, or — ?
A few years ago, when Mme. Galli-Curci was on tour in Texas, she suddenly awakened from a sound sleep with a premonition that her mother, then in Italy, was dying at that exact moment. She could not fall asleep again. She could not quiet her fears. In the morning she learned that her mother had died during the night. Since then, the diva has been studying spiritualism and has collected a valuable library on the subject.

Benjamin Gluck keeps himself young by giving fetes for children. He has cops collect them from the tenement districts. At Christmas time he sees to it that there are no empty stockings within his reach.

"Opera stars are temperamental," a manager confesses, "but they'd be more temperamental if they didn't have hobbies as emotional outlets. I'm for hobbies for opera stars!"

Don't Let That Cold

Away
Danger

That cold may turn into "Flu." Grippe, or even worse, pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once. Rub Mustreroie on the congested nose and see how quickly it brings relief as effectively as the messy old mustard plaster. Mustreroie, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

Quickly Ended by Famous Recipe

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that usually follow the "flu."

Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the curdled phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active ingredient of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Fifty Tribesmen
Slain In Fight(International News Service)
LONDON, Jan. 24.—Fifty tribesmen were reported killed when a band of 150 Wahabis attacked Koweis tribesmen in the Iraq region, said a Basra dispatch to the Evening Standard today.

It was a group of Wahabi tribesmen that attacked the automobile in which the Rev. Henry A. Birkard, an American mission, was killed between Zubeir and Koweis, on Monday.

The band which attacked the Birkard party, it was learned, was composed of scouts sent ahead by the Wahabi raiders.

The tribesmen that attacked the Koweis escaped with a quantity of loot.

It was decided the husband should pay the fine because he could care better for the children.

Damage Claim For Deep Road Cut Held Void

Viewers Find Meadville Pike Was Established 90 Feet Wide

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 24.—An important report has been filed by a board of viewers appointed to pass on a claim for damages filed by H. G. and Amy V. McVickers of Perry township, which they allege to have sustained by property taken in improving the Perry highway from the Greenville-Clarks Mills road through Sheakleyville. The report will have a bearing on the proposed improving of the Perry highway north from Mercer at a future date. In the report the viewers disallow the claim for damages.

In the building of the road along the McVickers property a deep cut was made, ranging from 11 feet to zero. The McVickers house is on one side of the road and the barn opposite and the cut is nearly at its maximum at this point, which renders access to the buildings difficult and will require a great deal of grading. The viewers found that the McVickers property had been greatly damaged by the cut made by the state highway department, but in establishing the right of way, which was gained through old road records in the court house it was found that the Perry highway north from Mercer (the old Meadville Pike), is 90 feet wide, and that the entire cut made is within the confines of the right of way, and although the property had been damaged by the cut, the viewers held that the property owners could not collect damages when none of their lands had been confiscated. A similar case which was carried to the supreme court is cited which sustained their position.

This report is considered important as it will have a bearing on the improvement of the highway, as the width of the road was not generally known and it is felt that some property owners have encroached upon the right of way. The lines of the right of way were established by the engineer of the viewers and the county engineer.

In the appeal of the Hannah estate for damages to their property in Hickory township, alleged to have been caused by the confiscation of a strip of land to eliminate a sharp curve in the construction of the Hickory High-New Wilmington state highway and the lateral leading from the Morefield cemetery to the borough of Farrell, the viewers allowed the estate $1500.

Maggie Richards of Hadley was awarded damages in the sum of $300 for damages to her property occasioned by the construction of the lateral to the Greenville-Clarks Mills improved road.

Viewers allowed Henry Turner of Cool Spring township $400 damages for land used in the re-location of the Cottage Church—Kimmell's Mill road at Turner's Station, a flag stop on the Pennsylvania between Mercer and Jackson Center. The change was made about 15 years ago when a stone quarry was opened at that point. The cases have been dragging along for several days.

In the re-location of the bridge across the Shenango river at Clarksville the roadway divided a piece of land belonging to Frank Bunnell and confiscated about one-third of an acre. The viewers allowed him $400 for his land.

Sloan Forecasts Over Five Million Autos To Be Turned Out In 1929

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., General Motors President, Sees Big Increase In Auto Industry

Automotive Business Has Had Great Growth In Past Twenty-Five Years

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—Production of 5,500,000 automobiles yearly in automotive factories of the United States was predicted today by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corporation.

The production record of somewhat over 4,500,000 passenger and commercial vehicles during the year just closed will be surpassed within the next three or four years, Sloan told business leaders at Boston at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon today.

Pointing out that the wealth produced yearly by the automotive industry in this country was approximately equal to the wealth created through agriculture, Sloan said there were from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 persons, or ten per cent of the entire population, dependent on the automobile industry.

25,000,000 At Present. "When I make the statement," he continued, "that of the 25,000,000 automobiles registered in the United States are in more or less daily use, over fifty per cent are being operated by those who have purchased same at a cost less than the cost of the lowest priced new car, we get a better understanding of how it is possible to maintain such a high automobile population in proportion to our total population." He added that it will be "absolutely impossible for our industry to maintain its present state of productivity and its corresponding contribution to the national welfare unless the cycle of the new car and the used car is maintained. Sloan said that as long as the spirit of progress prevails—as long as the automobile manufacturer employs research, adopts improved engineering, more effective manufacturing and distribution as well as intensive development of the artistic side—the cycle will be maintained and "the end of what we can accomplish is nowhere in sight."

LINER AMERICA ON WAY TO PORT; RESCUE EFFECTED

were injured. All had practically abandoned hope.

The Florida, listing badly, was abandoned. The giant waves, cheated of their human prey, were lashing the sinking freighter in full fury early today with a full westerly gale blowing it appeared doubtful whether the Florida could last until a salvage vessel arrives.

The America probably will reach New York late tomorrow or early Saturday.

Message Received. First news that the men aboard the Florida had been rescued was contained in a radio message received by the United States lines offices here at 10:30 last night from Capt. Fried.

It read as follows: "Rescued full crew Florida. Total 32. Chief Officer Harry Manning in charge. Whole westerly gale. Lifeboat lost. Proceeding. Details later."

It was just three years ago tomorrow that the doughty little skipper, then commander of the President Roosevelt, wireless that he had saved the crew of the British freighter Antiope, at the cost of the lives of two of his own seamen and five of the President Roosevelt's lifeboats.

No fears were felt today for the safety of the American Tanker Darnedake, which sent out an S. O. S. on Tuesday noon one minute after the Florida had called for help about fifty miles away. Capt. Mathiasen of the Darnedake, reported in a message to the ship's owners in Philadelphia that the tanker was proceeding to Bermuda at a reduced speed.

A previous message had stated that the crew of the Darnedake had rigged up a jury rudder. Her regular steering apparatus was disabled by the storm.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—"Thank God you arrived on time." This message was sent by wireless today by Mrs. George Fried to her gallant husband, commander of the United States liner America which rescued every one of the 32 members of the helpless Italian freighter Florida in a full gale at sea.

Her eyes shone with pride over her husband's latest achievement. Gone were the hours of anxious waiting on her part since she learned that her husband's ship had started on its extremely dangerous mission.

"God has been very good," she commented. "But my husband did only what he is supposed to do. Nevertheless I think it was just too wonderful." No further word had come this afternoon from Captain Fried, amplifying his brief report of the rescue. "Rescued full crew Florida. Total 32. Chief Officer Harry Manning in charge. Whole westerly gale. Lifeboats lost. Details later."

Officials of the United States line explained that Captain Fried, who had been on duty on the bridge of his ship for three days, had probably gone to sleep. The liner America will not arrive before Saturday and if bad weather continues perhaps not until Monday.

Whether there will be a reception in New York in honor of Captain Fried and his men on their arrival has not been determined. Mrs. Fried was not in sympathy with the suggestion.

"My husband is not much for parades and fanfare," she remarked.

Captain Fried, however, may have to swallow his shyness and once more receive the tributes of a nation. Fried, it was, who three years ago, almost to the day, brought glory to the highest sort to America's merchant marine by his magnificent rescue of the ill-starred Antiope. His name for years has been a symbol of the finest traditions of the sea.

Mrs. Fried is not the only woman in New York who is proud of the achievement of the liner America. Mrs. Anna Manning, mother of Harry Manning, who commanded the lifeboat that went to the rescue of the stricken freighter was as proud of her son as Mrs. Fried was of her husband.

Mrs. Manning sent the following message to her son: "Harry, dear, I am just so proud of you."

smaller districts, which, I believe, should be enlarged."

He cited the Maryland plan as an example. In that commonwealth there are 23 counties and 24 school boards: one for each county, and one for the city of Baltimore.

"However, I believe that the county schools are in a very good condition at the present time," concluded Mr. Helle. "Irregularities which have been mentioned in the past few years have been cleared up, and I am sure that anyone would say that Lawrence county has fine schools."

County Head Speaks

Mr. Helle's speech was followed by the election of officers, after which County Superintendent John C. Sylling made his annual report, the keynote of which was consolidation.

"In 1919 there was but one consolidated school in Lawrence county and but few in the state of Pennsylvania," stated Mr. Sylling. "But at the present time practically every township in the county has consolidated schools or the beginnings of a consolidated system. It is my firm belief that this is the only solution to the rural school problem."

There are now 307 teachers in the schools of the county. Out of this number, we have not found one teacher this year whom we would consider an absolute failure at her task. Truly, this is remarkable. The situation has improved very much over a few years ago.

Mr. Sylling also cautioned the members of the school boards to look after the filling of vacancies early this year if they expect to get good teachers. At the present time, he asserted, there was not an available substitute in Lawrence county. All were working in the schools.

No Surplus of Teachers.

"There will be no surplus of teachers this or next year," said Mr. Sylling. "Despite the opinion that there are many teachers at the present time looking for employment, so I again caution the directors: get your vacancies filled early if you want competent teachers. Only 34 teachers are now teaching in the county who were here in 1919. Anyone can see that the turnover is large."

That this convention should take up the problem of transportation was another conviction expressed in the report of Mr. Sylling. Mr. Sylling believes that the county should be divided into townships so that each community could get the benefits of state aid.

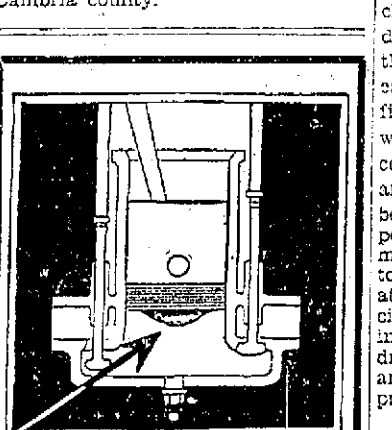

Horses and cattle should also be taxed, Mr. Sylling believes. If they are not taxed, he stated, it cuts down the assessed valuations and reduces school revenues. He would like to see these items put back on the taxable list.

The school boards should be cautious when they are making out their budgets, Mr. Sylling averred, so that they would comply with the state law.

State Speaker.

Dr. Robert C. Shaw of the state department of education, next made a short speech on the duties of a school director and a school teacher to the community. Using as his example a small, one-room school in the Cumberland valley, he showed how this school produced four prominent men through the combined efforts of the teacher and the community.

This afternoon the convention met at 1:30 in the Second U. P. church. Devotions were led by pupils from the Shenango-Taylor joint school, after which Dr. C. C. Crawford, principal of Edinboro State Teachers college, spoke. "The Old and the New," Dr. Shaw made another address, which was followed by a talk by Dr. M. S. Bentz, superintendent of schools in Cambria county.

SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF "OLD MAIN" FIRE

mers as well as other noises of activities to keep emphasizing the fact that a much larger and more complete plant would be available.

Now, after two years in scattered classrooms, faculty members and students are eagerly looking forward to the dedication of Old Main Memorial early in April. It was thought at first that contractors and workmen would be able to have the building completed in entirety for the second anniversary of the fire, but a number of considerations made this impossible. Manufacturers of equipment for the building were unable to complete their orders before March at the earliest. Then, too, it was decided that it would be unwise to move into a green building which is not dried out especially since the grippe and influenza epidemics pointed to preventive measures.

The new building, to contain the main college offices, a chapel to seat 700, a public speaking room, 20 classrooms, and a large number of instructors' offices, will be one of the most up-to-date college structures in the country. Built of native Lawrence county stone, in Gothic style modified along collegiate lines, the new main building will also be one of the most beautiful collegiate structures.

The memorial tower, from whose height one is able to see far into neighboring towns and counties, contains the old bell, recast in the exact shape of the old bell and having the same tone. When the building is ready for occupancy, this bell will replace the siren which is now used to announce class time. In all probability, the siren will be used by the local fire department.

Chapel to Be Beautiful

The entire new structure will be one of unusual beauty for a building of so practical a nature, but the outstanding artistic feature will be the chapel wing. This promises to be an excellent example of the best in collegiate cathedral chapels in America. In it will be incorporated many of the decorations and features of the West Point, Princeton and Valley Forge chapels.

Beautiful stained-glass windows of antique design will give color to the chapel wing, and the vari-colored tile roof will set off the natural shades of the stonework. Carved oak panel work throughout the interior, with imitation stone pilasters to support the balcony, will give the chapel a mediæval atmosphere. Oak pews and pulpit furnishings will constitute the furniture.

One of the best pipe organs available has been donated by a friend of the college. This organ, with everything but the console invisible, will consist of echo organs which will carry the music to various parts of the auditorium through ceiling gates.

Work About Completed

All that remains for workmen to do is to complete the interior painting and woodwork. All electric wiring is in, and electricians are now engaged in installing the fixtures. The heating plant, which has been in operation since last fall, has been connected with the thermostats in all rooms so that the combined heating and ventilating systems are ready for use.

All terrazzo and composition floors have been laid except in the chapel wing. Workmen are now engaged in cementing the composition floor to the concrete base in that portion of the building. Six carloads of chairs, desks, filing cabinets, and bookcases have been hauled to the building and are stored in the second and third floor rooms.

Plumbing work, glass work, and other finishing touches are about complete. All doors but those for the outside entrances have been hung. Blackboards, bulletin boards, fire hose boxes, and electric signal systems have been installed.

Within another month, the entire building will be complete in every detail. Then with some time for the floors to set, the paint to dry, and the building to become thoroughly dried out, it is almost certain that classes and college business will be shifted to the new structure early in April.

HOPES TO MAKE 240 TO 260 MILES PER HOUR IN NEW CAR

power engine, the car is expected to attain speeds never equalled on earth before.

"The Golden Arrow" embraces automotive innovations never used before. Chief among them is a cooling system, consisting of a specially constructed ice tank behind the engine, through which water is thrown by two mammoth radiators. The latter are slung on either side of the body, extending from just over the front wheels to the rear wheels.

The car is cigar-shaped, and built on the lines of the super-marine S-5 seaplane in which the Schneider cup was won in 1927.

The machine was constructed to Major Segrave's bodily dimensions.

There are two propeller shafts and a special gear-box containing the differential, and the clutch is operated by mechanical power.

Major Segrave will sit in the center of the car with the steering wheel in dead center. There will be direct steering controls to each of the front wheels. At the front of the hood is a "sight" designed after the sight on a hunting rifle. The driver will aim his eye through this "sight" in order to keep the center of the track while traveling at terrific speed.

The car has no body in the ordinary sense. It is part of the chassis, including a center-piece of armor which will prevent any of Major Segrave's body from touching the ground in event of a smash-up.

"The Golden Arrow" was designed and built by Capt. J. S. Irving, a well known automotive engineer.

TWO PRESIDENTS LEND COLOR TO HOOVER INAUGURAL

An unusual feature of the inauguration of Herbert Hoover, March 4, will be the presence of two former presidents at the ceremonies. Calvin Coolidge, as the retiring president, accompanies Hoover to the capitol, where the oath of office is administered by the chief justice of the United States, William Howard Taft, also a former president. Above, recent pictures of Coolidge, Hoover and Taft, and a view of the capitol.

HITCHCOCK SUPREME IN U. S. POLO

Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., upper-left, captain of the United States international polo team, is the only North American star worthy of a 10-goal handicap, according to handicap announcements of the United States Polo association. Hitchcock, who was also a 10-goal man in 1928, displaces the veteran Devereux Milburn, former international captain, shown on his horse, who has been dropped from 10 to six goals. Malcolm Stevenson, who was also at 10 goals, has been dropped to eight. Lewis Lacey, star back of the Argentine team, shares with Hitchcock honors as being the only other 10-goal star in the world.

Popular With Police

As soon as police officials in Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and New Mexico, learned that Fred Nave, top, and Clyde Roberts, below, had been arrested at Buffalo, N. WAR TIME LETTERS BY COL. LEASURE

Written From Battle-front During Civil War

From Papers of Late
Col. J. S. DuShane

Col. Daniel Leasure
Picture Property of T. A. Preston, 1218 East Washington Street.

The third installment of Col. Daniel Leasure's letter of June 24th, 1862, written from James Island, South Carolina, is herewith presented:

"I now called on all the men of my brigade to rally to me and stepped out in front of the battery. Almost 20 had collected on each side of me in ranks when a discharge from the battery made us drop suddenly upon our faces. On rising I was the only man untouched. Every man was either killed or wounded in some way. One poor fellow dropped not two feet behind me when we dodged the discharge and when I arose he was cut almost in two across the back by a large grape. He turned to me, exclaiming: 'Good-bye, colonel. God bless you. Go in!' gasped, and was dead. Two struck him. The grape must have passed so close to my back as to have grazed me. God took care of me for some purpose, else I had not been the only man untouched. Let His be the praise.

"I now saw the utter futility of attempting to form a line of battle there, and keeping my face toward the fort, I walked bareheaded and called to my men to follow me slowly. Slowly, deliberately, doggedly, they followed me step by step until we reached the dyke about 300 yards in front of the fort, when I halted them and put them in safety until I should return to them. About the time I started to fall back I looked for Gordy and saw him standing, looking at me with all the coolness of an old campaigner. Uncle Jeff's company was on picket and only half a dozen of them got onto the field and he put them into Company 'P' and went in on his own hook, and never during that awful hour did his eyes leave me for one moment. Like my shadow he stuck to me, regardless of himself, intent only on carrying me off when I fell, as fall it seemed I must sooner or later in a place where few stood to tell it afterwards. He and Gordy and I were slowly falling back and turned to look to the rear for Wright's brigade, which had just come up on the other side of the marsh on our left, when we heard a voice behind exclaiming: 'Oh boy!' and looking around, there came Joe Gilliland, supported by two soldiers, limping along shot in the leg, shot under the eye, hit on the shoulder by a spent cannon ball, but laughing and still insisting that he was not hurt much. He is a brave, gallant soldier and a dear good fellow. He and Gordy are like twins; (they are sitting beside me now.) Joe is doing fine and will probably start for home in a few days for a 30 days' leave of absence.

"Having mounted my horse, and Gordy having remounted, I commenced the task of rallying my command under fire, and over that field we rode, from end to end and from side to side, gathering up the men and forming the different regiments in their proper positions behind the dyke, 300 yards in front of the battery. I kept my orderlies flying, having got two of them mounted, and here Quartermaster Lieutenant Jefferson Justice proved himself a hero. He rode his white horse and when he went into battle General Stevens made him one of his aides, but he somehow stuck to me, until he lost his old straw hat, and then he tied a pocket handkerchief over his head, and over that field of blood he rode at a breakneck pace, across eternal cotton rows, over the ditches across the dykes, gathering up men, pointing to the colors far up in front and cheering them forward.

"What a gallant sight it was! The enemy, after trying for a while to knock him over, refused to fire, out of pure admiration of his gallantry. At one time he and Gordy and my mounted orderlies, with myself, were the only mounted men on the field. All the rest were either dismounted or had retired from the front. More than 20 horses lay on the field dead or struggling in death. Gordy rode a Scotch pony, and the nag hopped cotton rows, leaped ditches and was very satisfactory to its gallant rider. "About the time I got a note from General Stevens praying me to hold a good front, that artillery and infantry were coming to our relief, and I held it while Brocknell's battery came up on my right and opened fire with shell and solid shot, and the fire of the fort was directed against it, which did little damage except to disable four of the battery horses. There we remained a long time, and while lying there I sent in the litter bearers of the 100th and brought off all the wounded except Billy Sommers, whom they could not find. The enemy afterwards, or at some time got him. I do not know how badly he was hurt." (To be continued)

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can buy Dr. E. M. Edwards' for 29 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. The boy is good looking. He wears a blue shirt, black sweater, light cap, sheepskin jacket and white overshoes.

Watchman Stays At Post, Injured

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24.—Devotion to duty may cost the life of Frank Niece, 48, Shields, watchman at a Pennsylvania crossing in Sewickley, a suburb. Niece suffered a fractured skull when he remained at his post as the Manhattan Limited crashed into a truck. He is in a hospital. His condition is critical.

The occupants of the truck, Ralph Nickerson, 27, and Frank Lewis, 21, both of Warren, O., miraculously escaped with minor injuries. The truck was demolished. The locomotive on the train was damaged so badly it had to be replaced.

BABY IS BURNED TO DEATH IN HOME

NEWARK, O., Jan. 19.—Eighteen-month-old Beatrice Mintier was burned to death in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mintier, at Utica, a few miles from here.

The child's body was found in the ruins of the house after the blaze had been extinguished in a two-hour fight by volunteer firemen.

The victim's brothers, Billy, 4, and Thomas, 5, made their way to safety as the blaze spread from the back to the front of the house, where the baby had crawled, apparently to escape the smothering smoke.

According to the two boys, the fire was started by the baby while she was playing with a blowtorch the mother had used to thaw out frozen water pipes in the kitchen.

WANT CONSPIRACY

SUIT THROWN OUT

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 24.—Miss Myrtle Durst, well known Connellsville woman and for many years a teacher in the Connellsville schools, must, under a rule made returnable in 15 days, show cause why her $30,000 suit against Mrs. Ella Wallace of Connellsville and County Treasurer J. Q. Adams should not be dismissed.

It is claimed that the suit was improperly drawn, as it contains no details as to the place of the alleged conspiracy in which Miss Durst claims the two persons said she was crazy and should be sent to an asylum.

Weekly Review Of Iron And Steel

The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade says: Further advances in scrap prices and increasing pressure for shipments of finished steel, particularly bars, automobile body sheets and strips, stand out in the market developments of the week.

Heavy melting steel scrap at Chicago has gone up $1.25 a ton on a large consumer purchase. At Pittsburgh the same grade rose 50c a ton, its eighth consecutive weekly advance, bringing it to $19.75 a ton compared with $17 at the beginning of December. In eastern Pennsylvania sellers are holding for $17.50 on tonnage under negotiation, or $1 to $1.50 above prices obtained in the most recent sales to consumers.

The strength of scrap is in keeping with a sustained high rate of steel ingot output. Variations in the operations of different finishing mills, which are not uncommon in a market of wide diversity, tend to neutralize one another, and raw steel production is simply supported at 83 per cent of capacity at Chicago and at an 85 per cent rate in the Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Buffalo districts. The average for Steel Corporation subsidiaries is also estimated at 85 per cent.

Steadily growing specifications from the automobile industry have forced heavier mill output, particularly by makers of body sheets and alloy steel bars. An Ohio sheet mill has found its own output of steel inadequate and has entered the open market for a supplementary supply of sheet bars. Alloy steel bar mills in the Chicago district are operating at capacity, compared with a rate of 85 to 88 per cent a week ago.

Rail mills at Chicago have also increased production, now running at an 80 per cent rate, a gain of five points in the week. Rail deliveries are being asked for earlier than in recent years. Bookings have been augmented by an order from a Western road for 50,000 tons.

Railroads purchases of rolling stock, together with pipe line orders and oil tank business, are contributing to an unusually active plate market in the Chicago district. Western mills have booked 130,000 tons of steel, exclusive of axles and wheels, for cars placed since Dec. 1. Shipments of plates to a maker of welded steel pipe average 700 tons daily, a rate that present commitments will sustain until July 1.

A sharply contrasting situation is seen in market centers east of Chicago. Plates, structural shapes and steel bars, are still quoted at 1.90c to 1.95c, Pittsburgh, but mills show an increasing willingness to accept small orders at the lower figure. In a few instances 1.90c has been shaded $1 a ton on plates.

In certain districts the call for common finishes of sheets has lagged, and prices on both galvanized and black show irregularity. In the case of the former representing a sacrifice of the last $2 a ton advance.

Uncertainty has been developed in cold rolled strip, with some sales reported at 2.75c base, or $2 below the ruling market.

Pig iron has not yet responded to the strength of the scrap market, probably because the average cost of old material going into open hearth furnaces is still below current prices of blast furnace metal. While steel works have not moved to conserve their pig iron, foundries are considering decreasing the ratio of scrap to iron in their charges. Buyers of pig iron, as yet, show little interest in their second quarter needs, and increased output, following the recent blowing in of several furnaces, has caused prices to weaken, particularly on Buffalo iron for delivery in the New York district.

Al Jolson Denies Stork Is On Way

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Al Jolson, comedian, arrived in Chicago Wednesday and denied that he was going to become a father, as rumor has had it within the last few days.

He also denied emphatically that there had been a rift between him and his bride, formerly Ruby Keeler. Jolson said he expected to remain here a few days before proceeding to the Pacific coast.

Miss Hamper Solves Road Show Problems

Will Appear Here In Shakespearean Plays Friday And Saturday

Genevieve Hamper, Shakespearean actress and enthusiast, has solved the problem of combatting the apparent indifference of the public to the legitimate theater on what is known as the road today. Miss Hamper, who began her career as a girl of 16 playing page boys with Robert Mantell, and who, for the past eight years, has been co-starred with Mr. Mantell, has seen with regret the tendency on the part of the younger generation to turn to motion picture houses and dance halls for entertainment, leaving many worth-while plays to suffer from lack of patronage.

Miss Hamper has found many reasons for the change. The failure on the part of owners to keep their theaters in a pleasing condition, the high prices required by the New York producers in order to make a road tour profitable, and the great tendency of prominent actors and actresses to remain in New York and the larger cities for runs rather than to endure the continuous travel which one night stands necessitates—these are only a few of the difficulties.

Here in New Castle Miss Hamper will appear in Macbeth Friday evening, in As You Like It Saturday afternoon and Julius Caesar Saturday evening. She will be supported by an able cast headed by John Alexander.

Miss Hamper is fortunate in having the beautiful Cathedral auditorium in which to present her Shakespearean repertoire, but in many cases on her present tour she has booked high school auditoriums. She has taken into consideration the question of high prices asked for road shows and is considering maintaining a top price of one dollar, a sum well within the reach of the average student. This is a radical price departure for a first-class company of 25 experienced players with a star, replete with modern settings and costumes.

Five Are Rescued, Building Burns

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 24.—Three women, an aged man and a child, were carried to safety by firemen when a $50,000 blaze threatened apartments on the upper floor of the Deakins restaurant building here Wednesday. Two policemen and a fireman were overcome by smoke making the rescues.

The fire started around the stoves in the kitchen of the restaurant.

Baltimore Man Suicide Victim, Nephew Is Slain

(International News Service)
BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 24.—Fred Sweigert, 52, socially prominent head of the Metropolitan Printing Co. here, Wednesday shot and instantly killed Thomas W. Cole, his nephew, and employ, then killed himself with the same pistol.

Sweigert threw the plant into a panic when he walked in after an absence of several months, whipped out a pistol and shot Cole. He then ran into a corner and turned the gun on himself. No motive could be assigned for the shooting.

Groundhogs Do Not Sleep All Winter

Some Live In Caves And Sink Holes; Can Be Seen At Any Time

That groundhogs do not sleep all through the winter months, that they do not go to bed at the beginning of winter and set their alarm clocks for February 2 are the startling statements made by J. M. Neslon, a Kentucky cave explorer.

There are some groundhogs that burrow into the soft earth along streams and store their food for the winter months. These are never seen during the winter. They are the real hibernators. But there are also groundhogs which make their homes in caves and sink holes where they store quantities of food. They may be seen most any time during the winter when the weather is fair.

Along rivers groundhogs often make their homes in places which later are covered with water for days at a time. Sealed tunnels and air chambers give protection, and, while the water is running overhead the groundhog will be enjoying his cache of food which he was wise enough to store before being shut off from the rest of the world.

Groundhogs have the toughest hides of any animal. Often the farmers cut the hides into shoe lasts, which would outlast two pairs of shoes.

The kind of man who makes his dreams come true isn't the kind of man who sits around and dreams. The Helena Montana Record-Herald.

Members Of One Family Have Total Record Of 50 Years Perfect Attendance

Bible School of the Central Christian church, Long avenue, has long been noted for the large numbers of its members, who are consistent in their attendance, even for many years in a stretch.

And there is but little doubt but that one member of that school, William Strobel, holds a record in attendance without missing a Sunday, 23 years, which exceeds that of any other person in the state of Pennsylvania and possibly in the country. At any rate, there are few if any who can equal his attendance record. If there are any who can exceed it.

In fact the Strobel family who are members of the Bible School of that church hold a rather unique record in attendance, which it is anticipated that but few families, if any, could equal.

There are four members of the family attending the Bible School and their total years of attendance without missing a day, is just an even fifty years, as follows: William, twenty-three years, Ruth and Roy Strobel, each ten years and Grace Strobel, seven years.

Second position in the attendance record of the Bible School goes to Earl McCormick, who has not missed a Sunday for the past seventeen years.

Third place is a tie between Ruth and Roy Strobel, each with ten years perfect record.

On last Sunday, the various members of the school, who had a perfect attendance record of from one year up to that of William Strobel, were given special recognition and awards in keeping with their records.

The list of those given awards and the length of time that they have attended without missing a Sunday follows:

Uninvited Dog In Car Brings Slander Suit

Banker Who Advertised Canine Says He Was Called Thief

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—What to do with a large and apparently belligerent police dog who usurps a place on the back seat on one's motor car is a question of canine etiquette which became, one quiet, sunny day last July, exceedingly perplexing to Alfred B. Cerf, investment banker at No. 32 William street.

Indirectly because of the dog's actions its owners, William J. Ferguson of Harmon-on-Hudson and his wife, Anne, found themselves defendants in a suit filed in supreme court for $20,000 damages for alleged slander.

According to Montague Casper of No. 20 Pine street, Cerf's attorney, the banker and his mother were driving in their car when, in Ossining, they stopped to have a bite to eat. Returning to the automobile after dining they found the dog curled up on the rear seat. Efforts to remove him proved unavailing.

They took him to New York and, according to the attorney, advertised for his owners. Mrs. Ferguson, the complaint relates, went to Cerf's office on July 11, as a result of the advertisement, and declared in the presence of office employees: "He is a thief. He stole my dog."

Ferguson himself, according to the complaint, had made derogatory remarks the previous day, delivering himself of his opinion on the same subject.

The Fergusons recovered the dog.

Oregon Geologist Says California 'Quake Due Soon

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 24.—Another severe earthquake in California, probably south of San Francisco, is due within the near future, Dr. E. T. Hodge, professor of geology at the University of Oregon, has announced.

Seismological relation of the California coast with that of Chile leads the university geologist to this conclusion.

Dr. Hodge pointed out that the San Francisco earthquake of April, 1906, was followed in August of the same year with a severe quake in Chile. This bore out the prediction of Omori, Japanese, for whom the Omori rule of seismological relations has been named.

When a quake strikes a certain region, Dr. Hodge said, it relieves the tension of the earth's crust in that section, but intensifies the tension in other parts of the crust, and there is greater danger of tremors along the belts of weakness.

While teaching at the University of British Columbia a few years ago, Dr. Hodge predicted a quake, and his prophecy was borne out within a few days.

Movies Become Popular In China

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The "movie," its conquest of the western hemisphere completed, is moving thru the Orient whose cities one by one are building cinema houses, the commerce department's Chinese representative has reported.

Chefoo, a thriving town of 100,000 population, is the latest to become "movie-minded," he said.

Until recently the only peep at the celluloid heroes and villains which the Chefoosians might have had was provided when the local Y. M. C. A. or visiting naval vessels showed films privately.

But due to the enterprise of a young Chinese, one Ching-tang, the Chefoosians may now peep down their 70, 40 or 30 cents nightly at the ticket window of a public "movie palace."

Ching-tang is reported to abhor western movies and shows only the film versions of ancient Chinese legends produced by the Great China Lium Pictures, Ltd., of Shanghai.

This emporium displaces a cabaret frequently mostly by American sailors. It seats 200 persons. A Russian pianist, banging out American jazz on a second-hand piano, furnishes music.

Greatest Plane Concentration In Naval History Being Made By Uncle Sam In Maneuvers

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 24.—Aerial squadrons of the battle fleet have departed for the greatest concentration aviation has known since the war.

The most important and numerous of these fighting, observation and torpedo-bombing squadrons have sailed aboard the three air-craft carriers Lexington, Saratoga and Langley, the latter of which serves as Rear Admiral J. M. Reeves' flagship. Approximately 300,000 gallons of gasoline are stored aboard.

With the vessels sailing from Atlantic ports as units of the scouting fleet and those sailing from San Diego and San Pedro go the air forces of the United States fleet.

The three carriers take 170 fighting, scouting and torpedo-bombing planes. On the battleships of the battle fleet are 35 spotting planes.

All planes are new. Not one of these airplanes is more than nine months old; most of them are from three to six months old. Although they are standard service, they hold many world's records for performance.

The forces rendezvous off Central America February 1.

At that time Rear Admiral A. W. Marshall, in command of the scouting fleet units, reports to Rear Admiral Reeves, who becomes commander-in-chief of the aircraft squadrons, U. S. fleet. Thus for the first time in naval history comes into existence a unit of air squadrons capable of operating anywhere in the world on the backs of the fleet.

In general, during the two-month cruise the planes will take part in joint exercises with the army looking toward the defense of Panama and later will split up into two forces—"enemy" and "friendly"—for detailed exercises.

Great Way From Home. This concentration is significant because of the point where the exercises take place—5,000 miles from the home bases of the aircraft squadrons. Far from home, the 90 Boeing fighters, 106 Vought Corsairs and 54 Martin torpedo-bombers will take the air to demonstrate their value as offensive and defensive weapons.

Planes stationed aboard the carriers are land planes. They are equipped with wheels and take off and land just as they would on a dirt field. Secret gear halts them when they land, and the Saratoga and Lexington also carry catapults for use when necessary.

Aboard the battleships and cruisers seaplanes operate. These are equipped with pontoons. In taking off, they are shot out from catapults and in a distance of about 50 feet attain a speed sufficient to keep in the air. In landing they settle on the water and are hoisted by booms and proper tackle to the catapults, where they are made ready for another flight.

Three Murderers In Death House
At Sing Sing Will Be Electrocuted Tonight

(International News Service.)
OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 24.—Three men are to make the journey through the "little green door" at Sing Sing tonight, and when they do the state prison's death house will be without occupants for the first time in 14 years.

The three condemned men, are Harry Dreyer, Israel Fischer and Isidore Helfant, all members of the notorious Brooklyn "pants gang," convicted of slaying Patrolman William E. Kelly, during a holdup.

The men were resigned and ready for death today. The electrocutions will take place shortly after midnight.

The "Pants Gang" earned its sobriquet by stripping their victims of their trousers so that they might not sound an alarm too quickly.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of American Industry
America In The "Homespun Age"—Part 4

MOST COLONIAL HOMES WERE LIGHTED BY THE FLICKERING GLEAM OF TALLOW CANDLES. CANDLE DIPPING WAS ONE OF THE MYRIAD TASKS OF THE COLONIAL HOUSEWIFE. A NUMBER OF STRINGS, SUSPENDED FROM A STICK, WERE DIPPED INTO A POT OF MELTED TALLOW. THE STICK WAS PLACED ON A RACK AND THE TALLOW, AS IT COOLED, HARDENED AROUND THE STRINGS.

THE DIPPING WAS REPEATED AGAIN AND AGAIN UNTIL THE CANDLES REACHED THE REQUIRED THICKNESS. THIS LABORIOUS METHOD WAS ELIMINATED BY THE INVENTION OF THE CANDLE MOLD, INTO WHICH THE HOT TALLOW WAS POURED.

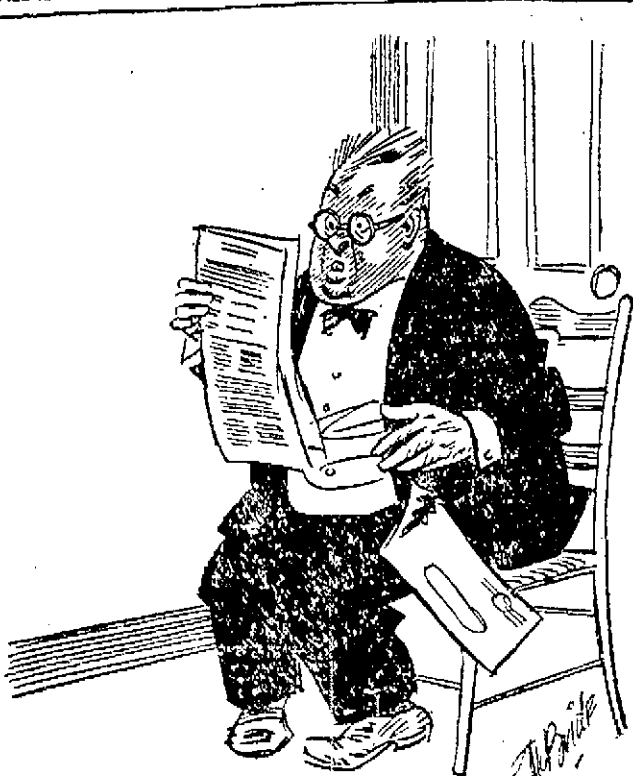

BEHIND THE HOUSE STOOD A BARREL WHICH WAS KEPT FILLED WITH WOOD ASHES FROM THE HEARTH. WATER WAS POURED INTO THE BARREL AND, AS IT SOAKED THROUGH, IT EXTRACTED LYE FROM THE ASHES. THIS PROCESS WAS CALLED "LEACHING".

MANY FARMERS MANUFACTURED LYE IN LARGE QUANTITIES TO SELL. SOME OF THE LYE WAS BOILED WITH GREASE IN A BIG KETTLE TO MAKE SOAP FOR THE HOUSEHOLD WASHING.

Stribling Asked Not To Fly Any More Till Bout

Jack Dempsey Requests Young Stribling To For-sake Aviation For Time Being

ESTABLISH FINE NEW FIGHT HEADQUARTERS

By LARRY SMITH
International News Service Special Correspondent
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 24.—Jack Dempsey was puffed today by a newspaper story saying that Young Stribling had taken another airplane flight was the reason.

"Fighters that are on my card have got to stay on the ground and ride on trains," said Dempsey, the promoter. His recent order to Stribling that the flying was off until the fight with Jack Sharkey were February 27 was repeated in a sharp telegram to the Georgian.

Stribling was told, furthermore, that his last appearance before the Sharkey fight would be against Jack Smith in New Orleans tomorrow night. Sharkey has no dates scheduled after his clash with K. O. Christner in Madison Square Garden.

Both fighters will report here immediately after those bouts. Dempsey has arranged quarters for Sharkey at the New Fleetwood, which was Dempsey's home two seasons ago, and Stribling at the William Penn. Both are but a hop, skip and jump from the Miami Beach Kennel club where the fighters will train, and Flamingo Park, the new site of the bout.

Dempsey and William F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, have moved into their new headquarters in the luxurious ocean front home formerly occupied by Carl G. Fisher. It will be the fight headquarters from now until the bout.

The work of Polena and Dyer featured for the visitors, the former caged six baskets. For the Lincolns the playing of McClelland, Uhle, Coen and Gennock featured.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

George Perotta is keeping his nose to the grindstone. Daily he scampers over the roads, while gloves with Babe Picato and Romo Paellito work up his speed after which he hops hump, punches the bags, wrestles and goes through other exercises to prepare himself for the grueling tilt with Floyd Hybert who defeated Wilson Yarbo at Cleveland, recently. Yarbo is the chap who sent Mickey Walker to the floor.

Henry J. Killilea, owner of the Milwaukee baseball team, American Association, is dead, having passed away in a Milwaukee hospital yesterday. He had been ill for two weeks and about a week ago was stricken with paralysis.

There is considerable interest in the Sharkey-Christner battle here. If there is any sense to one money that says Sharkey will win, one local fan here is willing to gamble a few dollars on Christner, he announced last night.

There is considerable talk concerning the Romeo Paellito-Mickey Dugan scrap. This ought to be a "hummer" judging from the way the two boys shape up. They are fast. Romeo has the edge in punch and he is equally as cunning.

Willie Hoppe of New York won yesterday's block from Johnny Layton, St. Louis, the world's champion in a special three cushion billiards match by 50 points to 45 in 66 innings. Hoppe had three runs of six and one while Layton had a high run of seven.

Although local fans may not know it, Roy Minter fought Ki Goldman of Akron, one of the best bantams hereabouts and gave Goldman a great fight. In fact Roy says he should have had the decision. He will try to revenge himself on Ki's friend, Joe Stemple, Monday night.

Pitt and the United States Military academy will clash in basketball, Saturday at Pittsburgh. The Army has captured nine games. While the basketball team are in conflict the Army and Panthe swimmers will compete in aquatic sports.

Allegheny took over the Washington & Jefferson basketball team, 23 to 21 last night at Washington, Pa. Allegheny took the lead and held it throughout the game. Dennison, forward and Berger, guard practically won for the Methodists.

There is more interest in Monday night's battle at the Jolly Bowl than any boxing contest here in months. Everybody is keyed up to a high pitch of excitement and there'll be few choice seats left when the time for the battle sounds on the bell.

Battling Levinsky sounds a note of warning that certainly is the truth. He says that "heavyweights are being ruined by big purses." Levinsky goes on to say that "fighters are rushed to the big money without proper training and experience" which is true.

The Italian A. A. which owns the Gentiana baseball field, according to Carmo Sacco proposes to rent the grounds. Wouldn't it be a good idea to form a city league and have all the contests played at the park? A league like this would go over.

YOU CAN'T GET AWAY FROM IT

Babe Hopes To Elude Reporters

Bambino Moves Cautiously In Order To Escape Notoriety

MAY LEAVE SOON FOR SUNNY SOUTH

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor, International News Service
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Notoriety ceased to exact a tariff for revenue only and went straight Republican today when it was discovered that Babe Ruth literally has been a prisoner in his own home since he returned to New York six days ago. He has been hiding out from newspapermen who wish to ask him questions he doesn't wish to answer and, in the process, Ruth has dared to venture outdoors only five times in the last six days—thrice because he moved his residence for purposes of strategy and twice for road work at seven o'clock in the morning. Mr. Ruth is nobody's nap.

Driven Into Seclusion
If you meet one newspaperman out of a given hundred at that absurd hour, he may be presumed to be on his way home and, therefore, harmless. This presumption is based on two established facts: first, that he wouldn't know Ruth if he saw him; second, that he wouldn't see Ruth if he knew him.

In any case the matter serves to give one a rough idea of the lengths to which the young man has been driven by this persistent interest in his movements. He ordinarily is the kind of a guy who wouldn't get up at seven in the morning to see Santa Claus get shaved.

However, a man can't spend the rest of his life peeping out from behind the blinds and so Ruth has been "bootlegging" on home in the open air at a time when he is sure his privacy will remain, in some degree, private. For the moment, at least, the hare is well ahead of the hounds.

Result of Prominence
The respite came only after two or three days of intensive shadowing by the artful gentlemen of the press, the result being that Ruth was forced to move from one hotel to another and finally to a private apartment on the west side. Before he sought this hide-out he could look out of his hotel window almost any hour of the 24 and see the curb lined with avid sleuths.

The result has been that Ruth has found it expedient to give Artie McGovern's gymnasium the very wide run-around. In fact, he has done almost nothing very industriously for the last two weeks, barring the couple of four-mile breathers mentioned. Like a fugitive in the night he probably will make a break for the railroad station some time within the next few days and go to some southern resort where a man may walk out into the light of day without being heckled and badgered at every manly stride.

Yes, it must be great to be one of those big men doing a big job in a big way.

HIT 'EM AGAIN

Grid Stars Shooting Baskets

By QUIN HALL.
FROM goals to baskets isn't a far cry and it is remarkable to see how many football heroes take up the game of basketball as soon as the molasses are packed away for the winter.

It is interesting to note the sectional aspect of basketball popularity. In the Middle West the game seems to be one of the most popular of the winter sports. In New England the cage game is played but it does not seem to attract the crowds that gather for a hockey contest. Weather conditions in the Northeast favor the ice sport and basketball suffers as a result. In the middle Atlantic section the game which calls for accuracy in basket shooting has its following. But here, too, its popularity is not to be compared with the interest it arouses throughout the Middle West.

One explanation for this is the fact that in the East the game is not played as fast as in the West. The constant blowing of the official whistle tends to cut down the tempo of the play. In a game as fast as basketball there are bound to be fouls and the Eastern officials watch these so carefully that the game loses most of its zest. The "five-men" defense which is popular in the East also has considerable to do with slowing down the game, and the Eastern policy of "freezing" the ball in the last few minutes of play to protect a lead also dampens the ardor of the fans.

Basketball, if the Western methods are followed, should be one of the most popular of the indoor winter sports. But for some reason or other it has never appealed to the great mob of sport fans, although it has been played for a great many years. Hockey, practically a new sport in the United States, has, on the other hand, edged its way into quick popularity.

If enough of the football stars of the country take up the game in a serious way, interest may yet be aroused in the pastime.

Paul Scull, the Penn All-American back, is now actively engaged in the cage game and Joey Schaff, an end of the eleven, is captain of the Penn quintet. Both of these grid warriors should be able to attract enough of their football followers to help fill the Palestra, seating 10,000 and constructed for basketball, every game instead of only two or three times a season.

"Whitey" Lloyd, of the Navy, whose exploits on the gridiron are well known and who was the particular star in the Princeton game last Fall, is center on the cage team at Annapolis and is as agile on the boards as he is on the chalked turf.

In almost every school in the country many of the leading football heroes go out to try for places on the basketball teams. This is especially true in the Big Ten conference group where the cage game flourishes like an ice manufactory in Cuba. The sport fans of the Middle West flock to these games and the turnstiles click as merrily as a taximeter on a rainy evening. Most of these conference games are sell-outs and even the boys who don't usually attend the festivities get rather warmed up over the standing as the season grows older.

But there's nothing like that along the Atlantic seaboard and it's rather a pity for, after all, basketball at it is played in the Middle West is thrilling sport. The action is continuous and rapid. Things happen at top speed and that's more than can be said of some sports. Perhaps the football heroes of the East can revive an interest in the game, but it'll have to be speeded up before it proves popular like it is in the West.

Stock Experts Are In Muddle

Stock Experts Muddled Over Present Situation On New York Stock Exchange

JANUARY ACTION VERY CONFUSING

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial
Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Stock market experts in the Wall Street district are as confused and muddled over the present situation in industrial stock prices as at any time since the middle of last year when the market turned sharply upward in the movement which is still under way.

Prediction by a few of the experts of the strong leadership of the public utility stocks has been substantiated by the vigorous upswings of the gas and electric lighting shares this week. Following a decline to the low of the year for the 50 industrial stocks in the standard statistics' list, the 20 utility stocks in its representative list jumped to the year's highest level. This is not saying so much, since the utility shares had been comparatively quiet, but the sharp upswings in Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, Peoples Gas and other utility favorites show unmistakably that investors and speculators look for important developments in the utility companies this year.

At best, the action of the market since the middle of January has been highly confusing. Manipulation by the strong-arm pools is without doubt the biggest factor in the sharp advances of the newcomer specialities in the active list and the propaganda gratuitously circulated in connection with their spectacular rises may or may not be reliable.

February is a month of traditionally receding stock prices and a big rally-hoo at this time for the purpose of distributing the stocks that have skyrocketed with little or not interruption since early December, would be in line with usual development at this time of year.

This view is further substantiated by the thunder-bolt advance of United States Steel common over the past week. While "big steel" has been somewhat behind the market in the upward surge of prices since the first part of December, it has responded on the whole to the expansion in operations and earnings reported in the last six months, and only the prospect of still larger earnings in 1929 would justify the current price of the stock. Hope of a new stock dividend or a cash payment to stockholders from the proceeds of tax refunds, now dangled before the eyes of daring speculators probably has little or no foundation in anything more substantial than the wish of those who are booming the stock. If the Steel Corporation directors are planning any such action for their meeting on January 25, they will doubtless be as secretive about the matter as they were with the 40 per cent stock distribution early 1927, reports of which were officially denied right up to the hour of the meeting.

Tonight

Tra Ramsey, president of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce and Walter Braham, chairman of the civic development recommendation committee are calling a meeting of that group for this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the committee room of the organization in the Greer building.

This committee is composed of Walter Braham, chairman; Rev. C. J. Williamson, L. G. Genkinger, L. A. Haug, H. B. Richards and Murrow D. Wells. A group of savants recently discussed the subject of "popular taxation." That must have been pure metaphysics.—The Louisville Courier-Journal.

New Morning Gym Class At Y. M. C. A.

There is to be a new gym class at the Y. W. C. A. This new morning gym class is for young matrons who desire to keep young. It's for those young women who know that it's the wisest thing to take a little time off no matter how busy they are for beneficial recreation and intelligent exercise. Housework in the morning, bridge in the afternoon, a movie in the evening will not keep you fit nor will such a program keep Father Time at a safe distance.

But let Father Time try to swath wrinkles in your face and in your neck when you have taken intelligent exercise and followed a correct diet. He can't do it because the muscles are in good condition and the flesh is firm. If you know that Father Time leaves his traces on a woman's neck very early. Have you a wrinkled neck or a bony one? Have you more than one chin? Call the Y. W. we will be glad to tell you about this new class.

If he can remember when young men kept their hair plastered down with sweat, he is an old-timer.

Barge Reminisces On Early Park Days

Someone not so long ago raised the question of when the first street car was run over the park line, now abandoned, to Cascade Park. It also raised at the same time the question of what this big amusement enterprise has meant to this city in the past and still means to this community.

Ferry Barge, the first superintendent, who is at the present time engaged in making some changes at that place, is probably the best informed person on that subject, and it was through his assistance that it is possible to answer the first question and give other interesting information relative to the park.

It will perhaps be remembered by hundreds of local people how Mr. Barge, as the first superintendent, used a pony as a means of transportation to various points in the park and how he seemed everywhere present. And the uniform that he wore will also be remembered.

First Car May 30, 1897

According to Mr. Barge, the first car was operated over the old Park line to Cascade Park on May 30, 1897, arriving there through the big cut, which it had been necessary to make at two p. m. on the afternoon of that day.

And from that time until midnight 27,000 people were transported over that line and into the park.

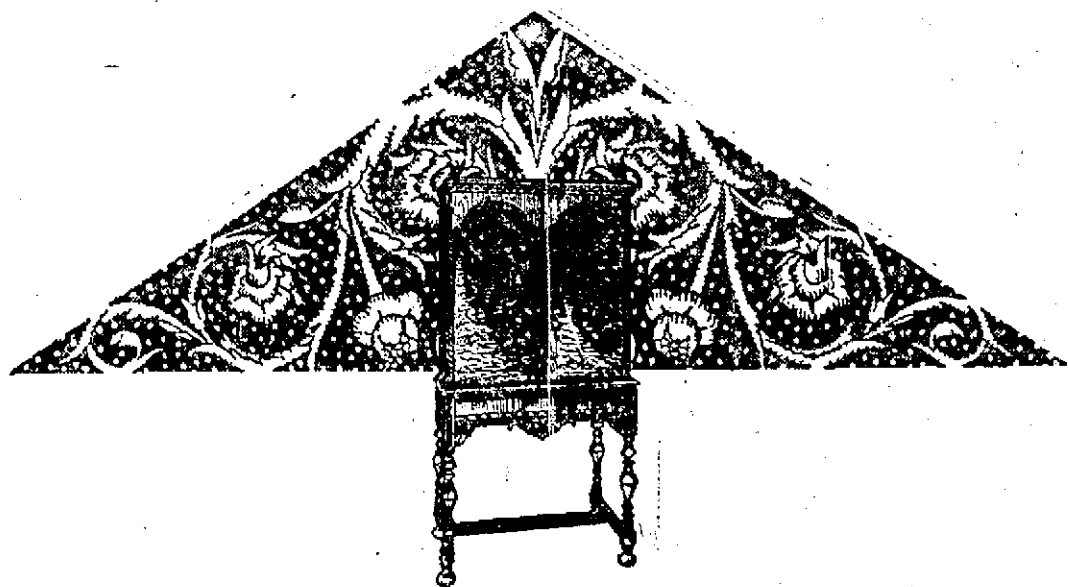

There was still some work on the buildings of the park uncompleted on that day, and while hundreds of people crowded the dancing pavilion and enjoyed the dancing, Mr. Barge had carpenters busy nailing the last shingles on the roof of the pavilion.

The first out-of-town picnic was held a week later, the merchants and others of Evans City, Harmony and Zellenople bringing thousands here over the Pittsburgh & Western R. R. now a part of the Baltimore and Ohio, to enjoy the fine new pleasure resort.

The second big out-of-town picnic of that first year was that from Mercer, Jackson Center and Stone-

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion CUT THIS OUT

Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused by the action of the acid stomach. Don't take a well known remedy. Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastric or stomach ulcers. Don't slow an acid stomach with pepin or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the acid fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines. Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little Bismarck Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest normally. There is nothing better than Bismarck Magnesia, to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. Your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bismarck Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

Two-Man Probe Of Booze Situation Not To Materialize

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—A proposed two-man congressional investigation into the booze situation in Philadelphia since the police clean-up apparently was averted today.

During a speech in the House Representative Laguardia (R.) of New York declared that booze could be bought in open saloons in Philadelphia and other cities.

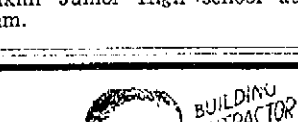

"Does the gentleman mean to say that there are open saloons in Philadelphia?" interposed Representative Welsh (R.) of Philadelphia. "If so, he is in error."

"Yes, I mean it, and I'll go with the contention to make an investigation. Let's make it this week-end," replied Laguardia.

The proposal was not accepted.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

This Road of Remembrance project of the Lawrence County Garden Club is one that has caught the imagination of the people, a project that seems to have the least flaws of anything started in years, an idea that is getting little or no criticism. However it isn't the first "Road of Remembrance" if you will believe one of the News composing room men. He lives out on the cross road leading from the Butler Road to East New Castle and which as you know isn't as smooth as the Boulevard des Allies.

"What do they mean, the first 'Road of Remembrance' he asked yesterday as he was setting up an ad. 'That road where I live has been a Road of Remembrance for a long time. Drive over it any day you please, and you will remember it as long as you live. Nobody could forget that rackety bumpy piece of road.'

Another Class Night tonight and Commencement tomorrow night. They come fast. There was a time when I wondered if the time would ever come when I could walk across that rectorium and get the paper for which I had been working. Seemed like the days were being held back purposely.

That paper is getting yellowed with age now, and it seems as though but a few weeks go by before another commencement rolls around and from high school commencement until college commencement is just a hop skip and a jump.

Even bicycles skid these icy mornings. Saw one of the winged messengers of the telegraph company this morning pedaling his bicycle up Mill street. Once he saved himself from a fall by some dexterous work, but the next skid threw him over into the field of ice near the curb. Anybody ever hear of anti-skid chains for bicycles?

Read another blurb recently about some new fangled battleship that Germany was building which was supposed to be the farthest south in battle wagons. According to the writer this meant that the United States ships would be as out of date as the Charleston.

That sort of applestrudel is just another yawn. The author of such stuff is at one end of the horn and the 'peace-at-any-price' pacifists at the other. You will recall that fourteen years ago the Germans were supposed to have the business of war making all sewed up in a bag. No other country had the implements nor the men they had, according to the alarmists, but the war didn't end that way.

Germany may be building warships that seem to be the last word, but don't let anybody tell you that the United States doesn't know something about the building of ships. And at the same time don't let anybody talk you into believing that the United States doesn't need to be reasonably prepared.

Have you secured your tickets yet for the National Commander's dinner for the American Legion is going to hold on February 13th. There are some tickets left, but not so many that you can afford to wait much longer.

There are two obsessions in America at the present time, bridge and the stock market. The one occupies the evenings and the other all the rest of the time. The elevator boy who hauls you up has a lot of hot tips that he picked up, the barber who shaves you whispers that Rock Salt Common is good for a rise, and the waiter who pushes you out a plate of beans casually remarks that the market is a bit spotty today. And then after listening to stock market tips all day long you go out at night to listen to arguments as to what should have been led and why the West lost that last trick in hearts.

Back in the days when dinner opened with prayer instead of a cocktail, the stock market was supposed to be a place where steers were sold, and bridge was something they put over water. Gambling of any kind was looked upon with horror, but apparently it applied only to cards. Now you can bet your house and lot that a stock is going up or down and its called an investment.

Forceful Message On Conversion At First Baptist Church

Rev. Ayer Tells Difference Between True And False Conversion Wednesday Evening

"Church membership, instead of fulfilling the high object for which God intended it, may become an instrument in the devil's hands for the deadening of the conscience, and for the keeping of the soul away from a personal experience with the Savior, Jesus Christ," declared Pastor Wm. W. Ayer last night at the First Baptist church. "The Conversion of a Church Member," was his subject. Mr. Ayer warned against certain types of decision day services which have been held in many Sunday schools in the past, in which by high pressure methods the whole school is stampeded into taking some kind of a stand for Christ. He expressed it as his opinion that the reason so many young people in the late teens leave the church, is because they have been swept into church membership by some superficial method, never having been born again. "Later when temptation comes," said Mr. Ayer, "they have no power with which to resist it, and consequently fall." "People may make some sort of a profession, pass thru the baptismal water, and the only change in them is that they are wet sinners where before they were dry sinners," declared the preacher.

There was a marked increase in the attendance. Prayer was offered by Rev. H. G. Woodrow. An impressive duet was sung by Mrs. Harry Cook and C. L. Fomble. Tonight at 7:45 Mr. Ayer will speak on the subject, "Worldliness, and Other Worldliness." Friday evening will be Young Peoples Night, and the subject will be "Christ, Youth and Our Jazz Age." Saturday evening Mr. Ayer will give a message on "American Culture, Made in Hollywood."

POLICE BUSY LOOKING UP CITY POOLROOMS

Acting under instructions issued by Chief of Police C. C. Horner members of the police force were busy Wednesday looking up the various poolrooms of the city.

This is an annual activity of the department to determine whether or not the various poolrooms have paid their annual license and tax for the running of such a place.

SLIGHT DAMAGE.

Michael Hromyak, 105 West Wallace avenue, reported to the police Wednesday evening that he was driving his car north on South Mill street at the P. and L. E. crossing when a car driven by a lady and going in the same direction in front of his machine stopped suddenly. Mr. Hromyak tried to stop his machine but skidded into and damaged the other car.

LEWIS BERCHER

HELD FOR COURT

Lewis Bercher, charged with desertion of his wife and minor child was given a hearing before Alderman William E. Marshall last night. At the conclusion of the hearing he was held for the March term of court on the charge. In default of $300 bail he was remanded to the county jail to await disposition of his case at the March term of court.

LADDERS STOLEN

Fred Gray, 13 South Jefferson St. reported to the police Wednesday that three extension ladders, two belonging to him and one to the radio store near his place, which he had placed in the rear of the S. & M. Tire Company place of business, had been stolen.

The late Chicago lawyer who never accepted a fee will never have a monument erected by admiring colleagues. The Terre Haute Star.

Forceful Message On Sanctification By Evangelist Sweeten

Evangelist Sweeten spoke Wednesday evening in the Primitive Methodist church on the subject of "Sanctification" taking for his text "For this is the will of God, even your sanctification."

Every Bible student recognizes sin has a two fold nature, actual sin and inbred sin. The sins we commit can be pardoned but the sin that is inbred must be cleansed from our nature.

Justification and sanctification are two distinct works of grace. When Adam fell the three fold nature of man, body, soul and spirit were affected. God has said it is His will that we be sanctified. To disobey His will we bring reproach upon him and forfeit our pardon.

The meeting will continue each evening at 7:30. Rev. Sweeten will sing the song of his own composition "They Need a Little More Religion" as the service this evening.
